5-Day Milk Plan

Delivery Cutback
Key to Settlement

By JOHN MIKA

Victoria's drawn-out milkmen's dispute is expected to be settled next week.

Basis for agreement between four dairies and 165 members of Local 464, Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees Union will be:

1. Reduction of home deliveries from six-day to five days, skipping Wednesdays and Sundays.

2. Monthly wage boosts of $30 for drivers and $32.50 for plant workers.

Settlement of the dispute is expected Wednesday when Union and dairy representatives meet again.

A strike ultimatum authorized by the union membership hangs over the negotiations.

CLARIFICATION

George Shaw, union business agent, said he had contacted the dairies this morning and arranged for the meeting.

"We still want clarification on four points," he said.

The points involve hours of work for drivers and seniority ratings. Also to be cleaned up is agreement on retroactive pay and other wage details.

"If we can reach agreement on these four points, I think the dispute can be satisfactorily settled," Mr. Shaw said.

90% EFFECTIVE

A strike against the milk distributors — Palm Dairies Ltd., Island Farms Co-Operative Association, Shepherd's Dairy Ltd. and Northwestern Creamery Ltd.—would shut off 90 per cent of the city's pasteurized milk supply.

Originally, the union demanded the wage boosts and continuation of the present delivery schedule, as recommended by a conciliation board.

The dairies said they could not afford the wage increases unless deliveries were curtailed to reduce expenses.

Ike to Sign Controversial Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UP)—Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, Jr., made it clear today after a conference with President Eisenhower that the chief executive will sign the Civil Rights Bill.

The historic measure, now in a form designed chiefly to protect the voting rights of southern Negroes, was finally approved 60-15 by Congress Thursday night—the first such legislation in 82 years.

Though it fell far short of what Eisenhower had requested, Brownell said on leaving the White House: "We believe it will go a long way to carry out the promise made to citizens in the Constitution that every man is entitled to exercise his right to vote, regardless of race, creed or color."

Southern Democrats opposed the bill to the last but only one—Sen. Strom Thurmond—filibustered it. Thurmond talked, with few interruptions, for 24 hours and 18 minutes.

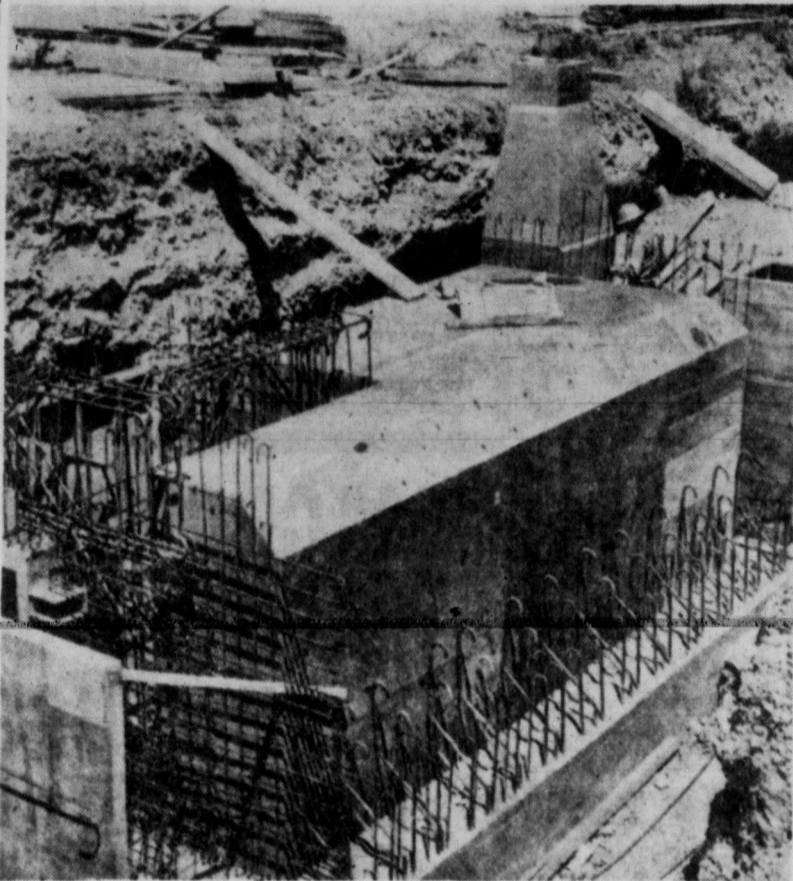

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.), leader of the southern anti-civil rights bloc, predicted in a Senate speech today that Brownell, at the bidding of Vice-President Richard Nixon and the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, will use the legislation to give the south "difficult times."

JOHN D. HOPES REDS REVERSE

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker has expressed the hope Russia will have second thoughts about her rejection of a Western disarmament proposal that would have opened East-West skies for inspection purposes. Mr. Diefenbaker said he regrets Russia has "seen fit to disallow" the proposals.

IKE GIVEN AID BILL LOPPED OF $1 BILLION

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives today passed and sent to President Eisenhower a $3,435,810,000 foreign aid money bill. This is $1,000,000,000 below Eisenhower's original request. The Senate passed the measure Thursday night.

A SPECIAL TIMES SERIES

Junior High System Blamed

(Part of the juvenile problem in Victoria is created by young people who drop out of school early and find themselves insufficiently equipped to hold jobs. This is what Times reporter Pete Loudon discovered when he made a survey of the various agencies dealing with the problem. In a survey of four articles he has summed up his findings. This is his concluding article.)

By PETE LOUDON

The junior high school system is under fire as a major cause of youngsters leaving school with educations inadequate for employment.

The system, it is felt, makes children grow up too fast and fans their desire to get out on their own.

Change back to the two-level public school-high school plan, say some who are studying the growing problem of juvenile unemployment.

Two who lean to this view are Victoria MP A. deB. McPhillips and the director of family and children's service, David Woodworth.

All employers, national employment officials, armed forces recruiters, youth group organizers, social workers and educators interviewed on the problem of aiding out-of-work juveniles say, "Keep them in school."

Greater Victoria school board has issued figures outlining the shocking tendency for youngsters to pull out long before they obtain necessary academic requirements.

In 1946 there were 809 youngsters in Grade 6. This age group remained numerically the same in Grade 7, dropped to 780 in Grade 8, 776 in Grade 9, 664 in Grade 10, 531 in Grade 11 and 391 in Grade 12.

At Grade 7, in junior high, the youngster is more on his own than ever he was under the old public school system. First year junior high takes on the importance which used to be associated with first year high school.

Boys who have worn blue jeans through all their primary years suddenly want fine worsteds. The awareness of approaching adulthood comes with a wallop. There are class dances, organized student activities and booster clubs, unheard of in Grade 7 under the old system.

More important, the high school system of giving out-line instruction but leaving the probing and studying to the student's own initiative, is in force. Junior high students are warned teachers will no more take them by the hand, from here on in, they are on their own.

Trade Minister States His Views

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada "would seriously consider selling wheat to Red China" but has not, as yet been approached by China on the matter, Trade Minister Gordon Churchill said today.

Churchill was commenting on reports currently circulating in Washington that Russia refused to sell wheat to Red China, claiming that it had none to spare. The reports said that Red China is now considering buying wheat from Canada.

"This is news to me," Churchill said when asked about the reports after leaving a cabinet meeting. "My department has had no word about it."

"I can't see any difference between selling wheat to Red China than selling to Russia or their Iron Curtain countries—if there is a difference, I would like to hear it."

Churchill said he was surprised to hear Russia would have no wheat to spare for China.

"We are just in the process of delivering about 15 million bushels of wheat to Russia that it bought from us last year," Churchill said. "But the Russians told us that they really didn't need it."

Port Closing Still a Mystery

Churchill pointed out that in the past Canada has done a small amount of trading with Red China—but never in wheat.

"However, a wheat market in China would certainly be very interesting to us here," he added.

In Vancouver there is some speculation in grain circles that closing of the Pacific port of Vladivostok may be responsible for non-arrival of the Russian grain fleet here.

The Soviets closed the Bay of Vladivostok to foreign shipping last month and banned foreign planes from flying over it.

Western diplomatic sources believe Russia might turn the area into a vast nuclear research centre and launching site for intercontinental missiles.

Russian news releases only say the port was closed to protect fishing and boundary rights.

Some grain exporters in Vancouver say the Russian wheat will not move out until Vladivostok reopens. They argue that that seaport has much better unloading facilities than the alternate and newer port of Nakhodka, 50 miles to the southeast.

Under the purchase agreement the Russians are to take their grain order during the calendar year which still gives them more than four months.

ENJOY YOUR HOLIDAY BY REMAINING ALIVE

Pedestrians, please, over the holiday weekend: Walk facing traffic where there is no sidewalk. After dusk, wear some light-colored clothing. Never duck out from behind or in front of stopped vehicles.

Don't insist on your "pedestrian right-of-way." This advice is from B.C. Safety Council chairman George Dobell, who adds, "use your eyes, then your head, and last of all use your feet. That way you can be sure your holiday will end without tragedy."

Malayan Drums Beat 'Freedom'

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (Saturday)—(Reuters)—Ceremonial drums, in Moslem mosques throughout Malaya early this morning throbbed with the news that Malaya was independent.

In towns and villages, Chinese, Indians and Malays joined in shouting "merdeka"—freedom.

Friday night the Union Jack was lowered and God Save the Queen played to mark the end of 170 years of British rule and protection in the nine princely states of the federation of Malaya.

When the last stroke of midnight sounded Malaya had become the 10th independent member of the British Commonwealth—following Ghana, which gained independence this spring.

As the Union Jack was lowered ceremonial bonfires were lit on hilltops along the 1,500-mile coastline and thousands of Moslems prayed toward Mecca for their country's future.

DUKE HANDS OVER

The new Malayan national anthem, Negaraku (My Country), set to the tune of a popular romantic Malay song, rang out and Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman addressed the nation.

Formal transfer of sovereignty was set for 8 a.m. local time when the Duke of Gloucester, as representative of Queen Elizabeth, hands over an instrument of transfer of sovereignty to Tunku Abdul Rahman.

In a recorded broadcast British Prime Minister Macmillan told the Malayan people that by choosing to remain in the British Commonwealth, they were helping to strengthen "the greatest force for peace in the world today."

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said in a recorded broadcast that he hopes the opportunities for mutual trade which existed between Canada and Malaya will be promoted and increased.

Russ Still Serious—Stassen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold Stassen arrived from London today and said he would report to President Eisenhower that he believes Russia still is "seriously negotiating" for an east-west disarmament agreement.

Stassen, presidential adviser on disarmament, told reporters that "no one should feel that any agreement is just around the corner."

LOSS BOTH WAYS

But he added that "both sides know that modern war would be a bad net loss all around, so they have that common interest between them."

Asked whether he thought the Soviet Union was negotiating in "good faith," Stassen said that was not the word he would use because "they are negotiating from the point of view of their interests."

Stassen left London Thursday after presenting a complete Western plan for a first-step disarmament agreement. American hopes for solid progress in the London talks had been built on some kind of positive Soviet reaction to this Western initiative.

But Valerian Zorin, the Soviet negotiator, promptly denounced the Stassen offering as containing nothing of value.

Monorails for Cities Seen in Gordon Study

OTTAWA (CP)—Major technological advances in Canadian transportation over the next 25 years are predicted in a study issued today by the Gordon royal commission on Canada's economic prospects.

"It is doubtful whether any new forms of transportation will evolve," the study said, "but much greater efficiency from those now in operation is a certainty."

For public transportation in cities, the elevated monorail could very well provide a radical solution to the problems of rapid mass transit. It cost much less than subways, and would have the advantage of tapping areas now considered uneconomical.

For highways, the study says future developments probably will be in the field of improvement of their quality rather than their extension, except for construction of new roads in the Canadian North.

Of the St. Lawrence Seaway, it says the waterway should bring substantial transportation savings, though these could not be estimated accurately now.

BOON TO WEST

While the West stood to benefit generally from the seaway, Vancouver might lose some of its trade as a distribution centre to Winnipeg.

In discussing railway freight rates, the study expresses some doubt as to whether they should continue to be used as instruments of national policy.

It says that the present government-directed policy of rate equalization as between regions means that losses incurred in some regions because of higher operating costs would have to be made up elsewhere.

VICTORIAN TELLS OF MANCHURIAN DISASTER

150,000 Died in 1932 Floods

It was exactly 25 years ago to the month that 150,000 persons died from raging flood waters and subsequent cholera in Harbin, Manchuria, China.

The flood threat is mounting there today, and hundreds of thousands of peasants, students and soldiers are fighting savagely to prevent a re-occurrence.

Arthur Golding, 1035 Victoria Avenue, was in Harbin when the last disaster overwhelmed the area.

He told of it here today.

80,000 DIED

"The sluggish Sungari river rose 10 inches a day and the flood lasted six weeks. Cholera struck because of unsanitary water and the disrupted living of many thousands. At least 80,000 died from this alone. It was frightful."

Population of Harbin at that time was about 1,000,000 Chinese, 85,000 Russians, and a few westerners. Mr. Golding had lived there 12 years as an official with a British tobacco company.

The city was divided into three main areas; Fudliand, where the native population lived and where most deaths occurred, Poistan, the commercial and shop area, and Newtown, the administrative area.

Newton, where Mr. Golding lived, was high up and not affected by flood waters. But the native area was below the river level, protected, so they thought, by dams.

"The dams went out on a Sunday. Just burst. Thousands never had an earthly."

The Sungari River has long tributaries. In 1932 the entire area had heavy winter snows, and a very wet summer. Disaster resulted when the river filled with silt.

"I went down the main street—Kitaiskaya Street—in a motor boat."

Harbin is about 300 miles from the Russian border, accounting for the high Russian population.

"The Russians did all they could, the doctors, the people themselves. But the Chinese authorities couldn't handle anything. They were riddled with bandits. You can't fight things like flood and cholera in such circumstances."

Cholera lasted three months. Coffins lined the road, many filled with persons not yet dead. Disinfectant was poured into ruts in roads. Money that changed hands was dipped.

"It was absolutely awful."

Mr. Golding, who lived 30 years in China, is a native of England and has lived here three years after leaving his company in Hong Kong.

This was main street scene in Harbin, Manchuria, during terrible floods of 1932, again threatened today.

Grade 9, there is a tendency to put childhood away and emulate adults—make "adult" decisions.

After three years of junior high, often with full growth upon them, the step to the world outside of school seems easy. Curiously, the young-sters with least chance of assistance from his parents is first to go.

School figures show those high schools in most prosperous districts possess greater "holding power" than those districts where the less wealthy live.

They show that in general, out of every 100 students, 14 drop out before Grade 10, 30 drop out before Grade 11 and 44 drop out before Grade 12.

And Grade 12 education is what employers want—at least Grade 12.

Mr. McPhillips and Mr. Woodsworth suspect the junior high system makes children grow up too fast.

Under the old system a pupil had eight years of forced learning. Instruction and exercises were carried out in class. Extra-mural activities were at a minimum.

At Grade 9, high school opened new doors. There were new freedoms and responsibility for success passed more to the student, less to the teacher. It was up to the student to carry his learning beyond the classroom, to the library and the home-work session.

Grade 9 was the start of extra-mural activities and the glamor of school dances, sports. For the first time teachers began to treat pupils in a more adult fashion. It was an attractive change from the lower grades.

Now this takes place at Grade 7. By the time junior high is completed, the thrill of reaching the level of secondary education is faded. The anxiety to "get out in the world" has taken over with many youngsters.

School boards have countered with a rich program of night school activities and credits may be obtained by the pupil with gumption enough to go back. There is general agreement juvenile employment can be reduced if they will take on more education. But once out of the fold, it's hard to shepherd them back.

Mr. McPhillips has a further suggestion of the He favors expansion of the national employment bureau system of registering job openings for youngsters.

He says, when he goes to Ottawa he will inquire into setting up of on-the-job training systems by federal departments.

Apprentices could be taken on by the hydrographic surveying, lighthouses. They could be recruited by the department of mines and technical surveys, dominion experimental farms and forestry departments.

They wouldn't replace trained men, but would be accessory workers who might not produce the worth of their pay cheques at first. But unemployed they are costly, too, and the system could be regarded in the same light as other subsidized education programs.

Mr. Woodsworth doesn't fully agree with a system of forestry or agricultural camps. This could become a temporary haven rather than a school, he feels.

MORE APPRENTICES
His solution would be for industry to expand the apprenticeship system in trades such as plastering, painting, masonry, blacksmithing and tinsmithing, moulding and pattern-making.

Many trades which lack the strict apprenticeship system of machinists and printers, haven't changed much in procedures over the years. These wouldn't require such a great amount of pre-education as machine and electrical vocations, he thinks.

And he thinks the services should take another look at their policy of restricting applicants who have a juvenile record in the courts. Army, navy or air force discipline is sorely needed by many of these boys and would develop them as better citizens.

Same-for-All Rate Set For Business Tax Plan

Preliminary passage was given a city council by-law on Thursday which will establish business tax on the same basis for all classes of commerce.

Every store will have the same tax rate applied to an assessed rental value—probably 7 per cent.

Decision was reached after a two-hour wrangle over proposals of Ald. J. D. Smith that a different percentage tax should be applied to businesses, depending on their size.

He felt instead of a 7 per cent tax, firms such as banks and breweries should pay 10 per cent and small grocers, barbers, etc., 2 or 3 per cent.

PRESSURE FEARED

This classification system is approved in the B.C. Municipal Act, but, according to experts, no firm basis for the classification can be found and council would be pressured constantly by business groups which felt their classification was too high.

Ald. Hugh Ramsay warned the by-law must be passed promptly for Dec. 15 tax collection. Council has budgeted for a business tax-licence revenue this year of $460,000.

Trade licences are already paid and will be credited against charges for business tax, but these amount to only about $300,000.

The business tax must be collected or the city will be short of necessary funds before the end of the year.

TWO-MILL LEVY

"If we don't get a move on we'll have to go back to the property owners with a two-mill levy," Ald. Ramsay warned.

Comptroller D. A. Young pointed out the alternatives would be for the city to default on debenture payments or the employee payroll.

City manager C. C. Wyatt is preparing a list showing how the new tax will affect a cross-section of local business.

There was some indication, if the list shows the same-tax-for-all system causes inequalities, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow might swing in with Ald. Smith in a renewed fight for classification.

The council has still to decide whether the trade licence system will continue with merchants required to pay either business tax or trade licence, whichever is the greater.

This system, employed in some mainland cities, is authorized under the Municipal Act. A special tax on beer, wine and liquor outlets is also still under study.

Grain Cash Delay Hits Farmers

WINNIPEG (BUP)—General farmers this fall if parliament agrees to a Progressive Conservative government proposal to provide producers with cash advances for farm-stored wheat. Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced Thursday he will press ahead with his election promise to grant farmers advance payments on the grain they find it difficult to sell.

Mr. Diefenbaker gave no details of his cash advances proposal nor did he state specifically what grains it will apply. But Mr. Churchill said later the government is thinking primarily of wheat.

James Paterson, president of the Manitoba Farmers' Union and chairman of the Interprovincial Farm Union Council, a group which recently presented a brief to Prime Minister John Diefenbaker urging cash advances, said "we are pleased to see that the government has committed itself firmly to bring about legislation to implement cash advances."

But he added the measure "could be authorized without waiting for parliament, and under a practical system could be administered with a minimum of administration and red tape."

2 Top Liberals Hit Bennett's Power Policy

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two top-ranking B.C. Liberals criticized Premier Bennett Thursday night for failing to act on offers from the federal government to help B.C. develop power resources on the Columbia River.

Liberal leader Arthur Laing, candidate in the by-election in Burnaby riding, said, "We cannot compete for new industry to keep our people employed unless we have public power on the Columbia."

James Sinclair, MP for Coast-Capilano, recalled that the Liberal government had offered to help B.C. finance the multi-million dollar development of Columbia River power and that Conservatives repeated the offer.

"So far Mr. Bennett has not accepted," he said.

Wenner-Gren Deal 'Worst'

BURNABY, B.C. (CP)—Colin Cameron said Thursday the Wenner-Gren project "could be the worst deal ever dreamed up by the Conservative politicians masquerading as Social Crediters."

"Wenner-Gren was blacklisted by the Allies during the war, was forced to hide out in Mexico because of his embarrassing relationship with Hitler and Goering, and has been all over the world grabbing what he could grab," said Mr. Cameron, CCF MP for Nanaimo.

"Yet this is the man with whom Premier Bennett is dealing. And now I see Mr. Bennett has some New York financiers coming to B.C. to see if there is anything left to take."

He was speaking to a meeting for Cedric Cox, CCF candidate for Burnaby in the provincial by-election.

PEARSON LEADER SAYS SINCLAIR

VANCOUVER (CP)—James Sinclair, fisheries minister in the last government, says Lester B. Pearson likely will succeed Louis St. Laurent as national leader of the Liberal party early next year.

"In January or February, we'll have to call a national convention and 'Mike' Pearson looks like the natural choice for successor," Mr. Sinclair said in an interview Thursday night following a provincial by-election meeting in nearby Burnaby.

Girls' Rescue Try Fails, 2 Boys Drown

COQUITLAM, B.C. (CP)—Two brothers were drowned within a few yards of their Fraser River bank home here Thursday afternoon despite the efforts of their sisters to save them.

Recovered by police several hours after the 4 p.m. double tragedy were the bodies of David, 9, and Kenneth, 15, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Caouette. The family's isolated home saved after she was nearly dragged under in her desperate effort to save her brothers was Edna, 19. Another sister, Bernice, 12, struggled ashore by herself after a vain try at reaching the two boys.

The older brother, Kenneth, lost his life trying to save young David. Police said the older boy dashed into the water although he could "only dog-paddle a little."

A light rowboat David was rowing in front of the Caouette home capsized. Unable to swim, he sank immediately. The accident was seen from the shore by Kenneth. He plunged into the water, crying out: "David is drowning."

Edna and Bernice dashed into the water behind Kenneth.

EMPHASIS ON SEATTLE

Merchants Step Up Fall Shopping Drive

An advertising campaign in Seattle next month will spark Victoria's first fall shopping week between October 4 and 14.

Bruce Tingley, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce joint committee of tourist trade and retail merchants groups, said getting Victoria's businessmen to financially support and then participate in the project was the current big job.

Members of hotel and motel associations have generally agreed to offer accommodation for three nights for the price of two. Special ferry rates for U.S. passengers coming here from Seattle have been promised by the Canadian Pacific's coastal service.

Tourists will be able to purchase a round-trip ticket at the cost of a one-way fare plus 25 per cent.

Stores supporting the scheme will be listed in some form of advertising brochure to be distributed through travel agencies at the CPR's Seattle depot and made available here at docks, the publicity bureau, hotels and motels.

The publicity bureau has already distributed 30,000 advance notice cards to tourists this year asking that they keep the fall shopping week in mind for a return visit.

Individual stores can attract the tourist influx by such activities as fashion shows, special prices, giveaways, and displays.

SEAMAN GLAD GIRL WENT THROUGH HIS POCKETS

One seaman Thursday was glad to learn a girl had gone through his pockets.

It saved him $290. The seaman, aboard the freighter Centaur in Crofton, learned that his money had been found by a laundress in clothes he had sent to a Vancouver laundry.

The ship returned to Vancouver today and he returned to his money.

Pro-Soviet Syria Stand Snarls Western Plans to Aid Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP)—Syria's pro-Soviet moves have virtually killed the West's faint hopes of developing a new plan this year for permanent settlements of the Arab refugee problem. Syria's leftist leaders, in their present mood, will almost certainly refuse to co-operate. The plight of some 900,000 refugees, a product of the 1948 Palestine War, is to be discussed at the United Nations General Assembly session beginning in New York next month. At present the refugees are being cared for in makeshift emergency camps, mainly in Egypt, Jordan, and Syria.

Diplomatic officials say Western strategy now will be to postpone consideration of any long-range plan for an indefinite period. Instead, they said, Western power will seek to continue present emergency relief operations for another year, if enough funds can be found for this purpose.

A serious shortage of money already is complicating the problem. Unless more UN countries contribute, present funds to operate the camps will run out by January.

The New Isolationism

THE MOST DISTURBING INTELLIGENCE we have read lately appears in The New York Times Magazine, written by Senator Paul Douglas, one of the truly great men in the Senate. He says that ripples of old-fashioned isolationism are moving across the United States and he suspects that they could merge into a tide.

It was after Senator Douglas had written his warning that the House of Representatives emasculated President Eisenhower's foreign aid budget. That action (though it may be reversed or modified) supports the Senator's thesis that the American people, or many of them, are growing tired of the giant's burden in this dangerous world.

"It should be frankly recognized," Senator Douglas says, "that it is hard for any nation to be constantly hopeful and co-operative in foreign affairs for long periods of time. It has now been twelve years since World War II ended. One emergency has followed another and the American public has risen to each."

"We saved Europe from starvation with the support of LORRAINE then came the French and British loans; then the Marshall Plan; then NATO and, following that, Korea. We have been forced to build up huge armaments, send again hundreds of thousands of young men overseas, spend no less than $60 billions on overseas aid... and increase our national budget to $70 billions a year."

After that record it is, says the Senator, a source of wonder that the American people have done so well under all these strains.

"Probably," he adds, "no other nation in human history has ever exerted itself so intelligently to preserve its own safety or to be so helpful to others. But it is natural for even the most tireless and far-sighted advocates of international co-operation to grow weary as year follows year and no respite appears."

The present drive in the Congress to cut down direct foreign aid and the indirect aid of foreign sales in the American market is therefore natural enough but, as a desperate President has been saying, it is folly.

It is folly, in the first place, because in the present state of the world the United States, for the most selfish national reasons, cannot afford to weaken its military posture for a moment.

It is folly in the second place. Mr. Eisenhower argues, because the United States can secure, through aid to its allies, far more military strength, at the lowest available cost and in the right places, than it can afford to provide itself.

Senator Douglas believes, however, that the fact of a rising isolationism must be faced, that a refusal to face it will only encourage a new generation of isolationists.

To the best of his ability the President is facing it and fighting stubbornly for his foreign aid budget, which is not only of vital importance intrinsically but even more important as a symbol of the nation's will to continue its leadership of the free world.

Unfortunately Mr. Eisenhower seems to be losing his former control of the Congress. The Democrats who once gave him more loyal support than the Republicans are in open revolt and many of them are repudiating the very policy of foreign aid which they supported under a Democratic President. For the first time since his election in 1952 Mr. Eisenhower is being personally attacked in the Congress and in the press. His aura has faded rapidly.

Whether another kind of man in the White House could handle this situation better, whether the extraordinary success of President Truman in foreign affairs was mainly the result of his leadership or the current mood of the nation—these are only hypothetical questions.

The fact of isolationist stirrings (they are no more than that yet) cannot be denied. It appears in the foreign aid struggle and also, as Senator Douglas emphasizes, in the drive to reduce imports and dump surpluses.

A more alarming fact also remains: If by any chance the United States reverted to isolationist policies or even if Mr. Dulles succeeded in seriously worsening the relations of the free peoples, the struggle of the world would be effectively settled. Under such conditions Russia would win the struggle without firing a shot.

This is almost unimaginable but Senator Douglas is wise to identify the ultimate peril, to isolate the phenomenon called isolationism in its incipient stages.

Visitor's Advice

A TRAVELING BRITISH JOURNALIST who was in town the other day had some interesting advice for Canadians. He said it was a mistake to appoint a Canadian to the office of Governor-General. For, he explained, an able man who had previously distinguished himself in public life would be suspected of political bias; or else, if he managed to maintain strict neutrality, he probably would be inert and useless.

As we are never tired, in this country, of giving advice to Britain we cannot object when some of it is returned. The visitor who knows all about Canada after a week's stay and often writes a book to record his intensive researches is one of our best known phenomena and does little harm.

But in the case of the Governor-General's office our first experiment with a Canadian has not produced the results that this latest investigator from Britain seems to suppose.

Mr. Vincent Massey was a life-long Liberal, active in the party's politics and, for a brief spell, a member of the Mackenzie King Government.

It's All in the Viewpoint

THE NEWS COLUMNS HAVE had several items in recent days regarding the plight of Canadians stranded overseas. In one case a tour party found no provision had been made for the return trip. It had to remain in Paris for several days while arrangements were made. In another case a party of Canadian scouts was held up in London when plane reservations fell through.

Now the thing that strikes the casual reader is the attitude of these unfortunate to the plight in which they find themselves. In the first case, we read how the would-be passengers huddled forlornly in the Paris airport waiting for a plane. In the second, the boys are reported to have fled to movies to escape their misfortune.

Perhaps something happens to a traveler on the other side that changes his outlook. Perhaps a few days in England or Europe are enough to surfeit one with pleasure. It is difficult to think of any other reason. For the average person over here, reading of these incidents, can think of nothing more wonderful and welcome than to be set free in London or Paris for an unexpected extra day or two of sightseeing—even without any money in one's pocket.

To stroll the Strand again, to have one more peek in the National Gallery, one extra afternoon in the British Museum—is this a tragedy? To walk again through the Louvre, to have one more aperitif on the Champs, or an unforeseen bonus visit to the Seine—this is an imposition?

We sympathize with the delayed travellers, of course—but only to a point.

Salute From the Parapet

I SEE where they're going to tear down the old Columbia Theatre on Government Street and make a parking lot. That won't be a new role for the site. I've parked there many a time in the old days—about the fourth row back and as close to the middle as you could get. For the Columbia—it became the Rio later and in earlier years it had had other names—was where you went when you went to a movie back in that just-breaking-into-the-teens period. Not that you went often, either. There was none of this every-Saturday-morning or every-Friday-night routine. It seems in retrospect that kids then saw a film only two or three times a year. It may have been more but not much more. And when you went—unless it was a rare night-time visit with your parents—you went to the Columbia.

It's a good many years since I was in the theatre and I imagine it would look pretty small now. But in those days, as you stumbled into the darkness and fought your way across the knees and feet of dozens of other youngsters, the place seemed vast.

In the gloaming Most of the pictures seemed to have been filmed long after the sun had gone down. They were dim and shadowy—probably an advantage under the circumstances—and, of course, silent. The pianist just below the edge of the stage, and the audience in the dark chasm of the hall, provided all the audible accompaniment necessary.

I cannot remember many of the details of the pictures they showed. There's a vague recollection of cowboy and Indian thrillers, and probably comedies with long chases in which everybody got knocked over. But one type of movie and one actress stands out clearly through the years—the adventure stories featuring Pearl White.

There never seemed to be any beginning or end to the Pearl White adventures. They were serials which went on and on and on. Every little kid in town was familiar with at least one big word in those days—he knew what "episode" meant. It meant that there was another installment of the endless Pearl White story, for every film was plainly marked at the very beginning, "Episode 47" or whatever it happened to be.

The nation is not committed exclusively to native-born men as the representatives of the Queen but our first trial with a Canadian has been a complete success. No Canadian doubts that. We are glad to have advice of all sorts but on this particular point it seems hardly required. And if we can find another Governor-General, native or otherwise, as able as Mr. Massey we shall be fortunate.

When he was appointed, the Government of the day made clear that it was not committed to a policy of appointing only Canadians in future. It said only that a suitable man should not be barred because he was a Canadian. The views of the present Government do not seem to be different.

The nation is not committed exclusively to native-born men as the representatives of the Queen but our first trial with a Canadian has been a complete success. No Canadian doubts that. We are glad to have advice of all sorts but on this particular point it seems hardly required. And if we can find another Governor-General, native or otherwise, as able as Mr. Massey we shall be fortunate.

The formula was constant and fully satisfying. The general theme was that Pearl survived threats and incredible dangers to win through to success. But she always won through at the beginning of the next episode. The end of each left her threatened with some gripping horror designed to bring you back next week to see how she got out of it.

But now and then the formula was varied. It must have been, because I well remember the end of one picture, and only one—and why it has stuck in my mind all these years is a question for the psychiatrists—in which the closing scene was one of triumph. Perhaps it was the final reel of Episode 99 and a new series was starting.

In any case, as clearly as though it were yesterday, I can see the brave figure of Pearl as the scene closed. She had spent the whole movie fighting and outwitting some scoundrels who were determined to blow up an important building. It was wartime, so perhaps national security was involved.

Nick of Time The signal for the big blow-up, as I recall it, was that the flag on the roof of the building was to be lowered. But the heroic efforts of Pearl saved the day. The picture ended with Pearl on the roof, just in the nick of time to prevent the flag being dropped. As police seized the scoundrels, Pearl grabbed the rope, rehoisted the falling flag and made it secure.

Then she turned, standing on the parapet of the high building, gazed nobly off toward the horizon with the Stars and Stripes forming a background for her, and smartly saluted.

WHATEVER GAVE YOU THE IMPRESSION THAT I WASN'T IN FAVOR OF UNIFICATION

By B. A. TOBIN

Salute From the Parapet

Whom or what she was saluting I have never found out. But nobody cared. It was life and high adventure and despite the sudden interjection of a foreign flag—for who could live through Pearl's adventures without thinking she belonged to us—we were well content.

Next week she would be lashed to the carriage of a circular saw, tied to the railway tracks in front of the thundering continental express, or hanging by her fingers from the slowly crumbling rocks of a cliff face.

But this week she was triumphant, on top of the world, and we were right with her.

It must have been pretty poor stuff compared with the slick jobs they put out nowadays. There was no character analysis, no trick photography, no psychiatric insight, no million dollar spectacles, no color or orchestra music—just bad guys, good guys, and Pearl.

Well Worth It As I say, we did not go often, but we never regretted the ten cents it cost us to see the show. We came out refreshed and uplifted, and full of the five-cent toffee bar that had sustained us through our grueling adventures. There were few bargains like it in those days, and certainly none today.

There has been a great furor in London recently over the threatened destruction of the old St. James Theatre. The matter has come up in the Commons and the House of Lords and numerous public figures have rushed to the theatre's defence.

I don't think the disappearance of the Columbia will rouse any such reaction here. It was never exactly a fashionable theatre—although one well-known dowager of this city was a frequent attendant and invariably sat on the aisle next to the exit door in case there was a fire.

In any case there is really nothing to preserve. The real Columbia and what it meant to us disappeared long ago, victims of time and the times. The new parking lot may be filled with dim ghosts, but they need cause no fear. The good guys, and Pearl, always triumphed in the end.

MARKED for READING TRUE SUCCESS I would say that those who have not had the good fortune to obtain outward success, but have accomplished something really good and accept the lack of outward recognition without bitterness have reached the highest achievement of all.

—Baldy Mauchan, British artist

Undefeated Champ The formula was constant and fully satisfying. The general theme was that Pearl survived threats and incredible dangers to win through to success. But she always won through at the beginning of the next episode. The end of each left her threatened with some gripping horror designed to bring you back next week to see how she got out of it.

"AW, YOU'RE NOT FAIR! I SHOWED YOU HOW TO PLAY MARBLES!"

As Our Readers See It

Getting at the Facts

The suggested amalgamation of Victoria and Saanich presents many problems and 101 unanswered questions. Unless all pertinent problems are thoroughly threshed out and answered the end results might well create more troubles than we have now.

The general public has been invited to participate in the discussions so let's do just that. Ultimately the people will decide what is to be done by a vote and this is as it should be. But let's be able to vote intelligently by having all the facts and figures presented to us.

To start off we could find out what the report made by the The Citizen's Research Institute of Canada for the Chambers of Commerce has to say about it. Then there is the experience of the Toronto area to be studied, the advice of any experts which may be available, and the use of good common sense.

First, why amalgamate at all? Would general services be increased at a lower cost due to increased efficiency?

Since local government is one of the springs feeding democracy and our way of life would a larger unit tend to diminish that "personalized" service which is the hallmark of good local government? Would taxes be increased or decreased (fond thought) in Victoria or Saanich? Why is Oak Bay, a most progressive municipality, so strongly opposed to union?

It is quite likely the people of Victoria as well as Saanich would have to be sold on the idea of union. Victorians may think they would have to help pay for Saanich sewers and roads while Saanich may be fearful of having to help pay for Victoria's much larger debt.

The institute suggested four approaches to the whole idea. (Its report dealt with the union of the whole Greater Victoria area.)

(1) An extension of the Metropolitan Board idea such as we now have in the water board, school board and library.

(2) A metropolitan federation of the four municipalities similar to the Toronto area.

(3) Leave things as they are.

(4) Amalgamation, all the municipalities coming under one local government.

The institute favors the latter solution and goes on to back up its case.

More on Milk Prices

Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, president of the Canadian Association of Consumers, is to be commended for her publicized statement on the Victoria milk situation and particularly re the lack of cash and carry milk at a reduction of at least 2 cents per quart the same as exists in Vancouver and generally in Canada and U.S.

Portland, Ore., has discontinued consumer milk deliveries. The people of Portland buy their milk along with their groceries, etc., at a much reduced price.

Regarding the threatened strike of milk drivers and milk-plant employees for still higher wages, etc.

The drivers here are dead set against cash and carry milk for obvious reasons and the distributors encourage that thought.

At present milk drivers are paid a basic wage of $300 per month and with sales commissions a good driver can make up to $400 per month. In addition he gets free uniforms, free dry cleaning of uniforms, sick benefits and $2,000 life insurance all paid for by the distributors.

The plant employees receive $300 to $340 per month plus free uniforms, free cleaning of uniforms, sick benefits, $2,000 life insurance; again all paid for by their employers.

They are now asking for basic increases of $30 and $32 per month. The distributors have asked for a slight reduction in the daily deliveries, the employees have refused.

The union receives its orders from a U.S. international and the union obeys those orders irrespective of local and B.C. conditions.

The consumer of Victoria has been quite ignored by producers, distributors, union and B.C. government in the matter of milk distribution. The public have been kept completely in the dark in the negotiations that have been going on for months even to the point of complete secrecy, are both sides afraid of public opinion?

Non report in 1955 stated that he saw no reason why the Victoria consumers should not enjoy a cheaper price for cash and carry milk as it would not affect or reduce the price paid to the producers.

FROM WASHINGTON

Mr. Dulles and the Press

IT may be that Mr. Dulles is, as he says, now willing to let a limited group of American correspondents go to Red China for a trial period of six months. Yet, it is fair to say that he would not be inconsolable if they did not go. For in making his offer he attached to it the one condition most likely to provoke Red China into refusing to admit the American correspondents. He will allow twenty-four American correspondents representing leading newspapers, news magazines, and broadcasting companies to go to Red China. But no Chinese newspapermen are to come to the United States. So, unless Red China swallows her pride and acknowledges to the world that the United States is entitled to preferential treatment, the American correspondents will not be able to go to Red China.

But then, as Mr. Dulles may conceivably have foreseen, he can argue that it is the Red Chinese and not he who prevent the American press from gathering news on the Chinese mainland. He can even be disappointed and indignant at these totalitarianism who do not believe in freedom of the press.

Whether or not the Dulles proposal is actually put into effect, or was meant to be, the statement issued by the U.S. Department of State last week must be challenged.

The terms of this proposal affirm, and if acquiesced in would establish as a precedent, a new and hitherto entirely un-American conception of the right and duty of the press.

Mr. Dulles is making the claim that outside the three-mile limit he may treat the press as an instrument of foreign policy, and that the American press in foreign countries is subject to the paramount control of the Secretary of State.

This claim to power is contained in the text of the statement. Having reminded us that it has been the policy of the Secretary of State not to authorize—in fact, not to permit—American newspapermen to go, even at their own risk, to the Chinese mainland, Mr. Dulles goes on to say that he has changed his mind. He now finds it "desirable that additional information be made available to the American people respecting current conditions in China."

Now, by what right, and on what principle, does he claim to have the power to decide how much information it is "desirable" for the American people to have?

We have here the unprecedented and impertinent assertion that the right to turn off and the right to turn on the tap of news is one of the prerogatives of the Secretary of State.

Strange Words

This is followed by a truly remarkable declaration, one which will have to be examined thoroughly by all who are concerned with the security and the integrity of the American press.

"The Secretary of State has accordingly determined that it may prove consistent with the foreign policy of the United States that there be travel by a limited number of American news reporters to the mainland of China."

This is, I submit, a usurpation of power which has never before been vested in the Secretary of State—the power to determine whether, when, where, and under what conditions, the American press may gather and report news in foreign countries.

Surely, in the American way of life it is for the editors to determine whether, when and where news is available that should be reported, and it is entirely impossible to accept the principle that Mr. Dulles, Mr. Walter Robertson, and Mr. Berding have any right or power to regulate the reporting of news.

Acceptable Risk

They can warn newspapermen that it may be dangerous to go to a place like Red China, and that the Department of State cannot help them if they get into trouble. But if the editor and the reporter accept the risk, it is not for the Department of State to decide whether it likes or it does not like to have them go.

The essential difference between a free press and a totalitarian press lies exactly here: that in a free country the press is not an instrument of the government's policy. It is an independent instrument to enable the people to understand and to judge policy, to help them make or to help them unmake policy.

Paramount Right

Last week's declaration from the State Department denies that in foreign affairs there is such a thing as an independent press. It claims a paramount right to decide whether there shall be more or less news reported from China. It asserts the right to decide what kind of correspondents may go to China—in this case, the correspondents must be "resident," and not special correspondents on special assignments, as, for example, Mr. Joseph Alsop or Mr. Edward Murrow.

It asserts the right to judge "experimentally" the news reported from China during the trial period of six months. Thus an American correspondent who goes to the mainland is to have two bosses—his editor and Mr. Dulles.

All this, it may be said, discloses the fact that Mr. Dulles has an imperfect grasp of the principles of a free press in a free society.

From Our Files

Aug. 30, 1897—Four miners from Nanaimo and Seattle have been drowned in the North Pacific while attempting to reach the mainland. Four survivors of the overturned boat were rescued by the steamer Islander.

Aug. 30, 1917—Ralph Alcock of the Gorge Beach, has presented a cup for girl swimmers in next Saturday's gala. He has done much to encourage swimming and football in the city.

Aug. 30, 1937—Berlin: Twelve protestant pastors were in custody today bringing to 120 the total of churchmen imprisoned in Germany since the battle for church control began.

Kippers and Cancer

LONDON—If it were your job to administer justice, what would you do in the case of two boys aged 7 and 6 who took a sleeping baby from a pram and caused its death from a fractured skull?

Is it murder? Would you keep them in custody? Or would you release them and let them go about their daily lives again?

Here's the postscript to the case up in Hull that I told you about a few weeks ago. At first the police had said the boys were outside the law because they were too young. But the concern of their schoolteacher, parents of other children at their school and parents in the neighborhood where they lived was such that the matter could not be overlooked.

They had to be brought to some sort of justice. So they were put in a remand home while the Hull Juvenile Court considered the case. Verdict of the court chairman: "We will let you go back to your mummy." The boys have been returned to their 27-year-old mother and every three months a probation officer will make a report on their progress.

DOES THE INTENTION of the Minister of Transport to raise the penalty for smoking in a railway non-smoker from $5.60 to $14

stem from the fact that he is bringing this in line with other rising prices? Not so, because as humorist Osbert Lancaster says: "We must be grateful that we can still spit at the old rates." Expectation has always carried the same $5.60 fine.

Reason for making illegal smoking more costly is the current cancer scare. And it's not only penetrating into the non-smoking compartments. Some doctors here are now saying that "there is a possibility that smoked fish may cause cancer of the stomach."

Bad enough to be scared into trying to give up smoking, it will be really tough on the English if the government asks them to give up their beloved kippers.

STATISTICS DEPT. — Having a baby in England is much safer today. Thirty years ago one in 226 mothers died in childbirth. Last year's rate: one in 1,500.

THE NAWAB OF PATAUDI — That's a mouthful of a name, but this Indian potentate was familiar to everybody living in England between the wars, when he was one of this country's leading cricket stars.

Now the new Nawab, a 16-year-old schoolboy at Winchester College, is showing definite signs of following in father's footsteps. Smacking out centuries for his school, they say that not many years from now the exotic-sounding name is likely to be featuring in English cricket scoreboards again.

GLIMPSED on the back of an elderly car: "Wearing out, please pass."

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Treatment of Gout

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Gout is characterized by acute, sudden and often very painful attacks of arthritis, commonly in one joint, and usually in the big toe joint. Following an attack, the patient may be normal for quite a while, and then suddenly he will get another attack. The trouble is usually due to a hereditary difficulty the body has in handling certain substances which end up as uric acid. The disease occurs almost always in men, and rarely in women. In an occur in men who drink more alcohol than they need, and in men who eat much more than they should. But there is not only the "rich-man's champagne gout," there is a "poor-man's gout."

Dr. Alvarez

Unfortunately, many years ago the diagnosis was usually missed because we physicians had not been trained to think of gout; we thought it was a very rare disease, when actually arthritis experts now see a lot of it. Sometimes the doctor can diagnose gout in a minute by noticing little white masses of uric acid crystals under the skin of an ear or an elbow, or he can see peculiar spots in an x-ray film. Any man of middle age who wakes around 2 in the morning with an agonizing pain and red swelling in one big toe joint can know he almost certainly has the gout.

In cases of doubt, the doctor will get a laboratory worker to measure the amount of uric acid in the blood. In cases of gout this reading is usually elevated and somewhere between five and nine mg., instead of the usual one to four mg. Sometimes these people have some albumin in the urine, or stones in a kidney, or bursitis of a shoulder joint. In one in five cases the patient has a relative who suffers with gout.

MAY FOLLOW-UP

An attack is likely to come when the patient has been ill with a bad cold, or when he hasn't eaten much for several days, or when he has exercised too much, or when he has been on a long ride on a train or plane, or has had an operation, or has been confined in bed for a while. He may get an attack after eating and drinking too much, or taking a mercurial diuretic which makes the kidneys function more actively, or after taking some liver extract or ACTH.

Often, a spell will quiet down under the influence of a drug such as phenylbutazone or colchicine or probenecid or one of the cortisone-like substances.

The patient suffering from gout will do well to live on a just-adequate diet, perhaps relatively high in protein and low in starches and sugar. He must not eat liver, kidneys or sweetbreads which are full of the substances which in the body turn into uric acid. Some experts warn, also, against meat extracts, gravies, chocolate, cola drinks, beer, wine, ale, asparagus, peas and dried beans.

THE SPIRIT OF SCIENCE

There is still need today for explaining to laymen why many scientists take vows of poverty, much as a priest does, and plan to spend their days in a laboratory searching for the answers to certain questions. Often these "researches" will seem to be of little if any use, but some day, all of a sudden, some discovery will turn out to be of enormous value.

For instance, Dr. Fleming in his little pathological laboratory became curious as to why bacteria did not grow in the zone immediately surrounding a colony of a certain mold. Every housewife has seen such colonies on the top of some of her jars of jam. Fleming realized that there must be some substance seeping out from the edges of the colony to keep bacteria from growing. All bacteriologists must have noticed this phenomenon a thousand times, but he was the only one to see that there might be a chemical there, which, if isolated and injected into the body of a man, might save his life from severe infection. He was the only man to do something about it. Eventually, penicillin was found. It was purified by Dr. Florey and others, and by now, it must have saved a million lives.

As I walk through public parks it saddens me to see that most of the statues on pedestals are of men whose only virtue was that they were experts in the art of killing their fellows. Only rarely do I find a statue of a man like Pasteur, who probably did more for humanity than did any other man who ever lived. No one erects a memorial to Dr. William G. Morton who did most to give us the great boon of anesthesia in surgery, or to Lord Lister, who made modern surgery possible, or to Dr. Domagk, who found the sulfa drugs. We men and women show little gratitude to our greatest benefactors.

ABOUT TOBACCO SMOKE FROM OTHERS

Many people have a gift for thinking up worries. It never would have occurred to me to worry about inhaling a little smoke from the cigar of the man sitting next to me at a dinner party, but some people are now worrying about this. I am sure the small amount of smoke they will get in this way will never harm them!

RUSS TO RULE WORLD ECONOMY—ALTRINCHAM

OXFORD, Eng. (AP)—Lord Altrincham, who angered many Britons earlier this month with a personal attack on the Queen predicted Thursday that Russia will win economic control of the world within 50 years.

"I feel desperately anxious when I look at Russia's program of capital investment," Altrincham told delegates to a meeting of the Liberal International.

"Long-term thinking such as they are free to indulge in will mean that they will win economic control of the world within 50 years." He did not elaborate.

Tomatoes Progress Despite Dull Days

Tomatoes have been producing and ripening this summer with us to just about their average in spite of a somewhat dull season. Seed was sown on March 15, seedlings pricked out into vernal bands, and the plants set out in the open garden on June 8. They could have been out by May 15, but the ground was not ready. The one variety Meteor was set out on May 18.

Our location is noted for its low night temperature readings. Conversely, we get higher day readings than areas which are nearer the water, and the soil remains warmer over a longer period at night.

Small BUT GOOD — We picked the first fully ripe tomatoes during the last week of July, from the bush variety Stokes' Wonder. The fruit has been small, but is high in flavor. It would be perfect for packing into lunch boxes to eat whole, like grapes.

The next variety to ripen was Puck, a larger fruit, of solid texture and fairly mild flavor. Of stocky habit, the plants make tremendous growth before ripening fruit, so that liquid feedings are withheld.

I think our favorite this year is Meteor, which we had some years ago. The first fruit was ready to pick by August 10, fully ripened and of medium size. The flesh is particularly solid, and of excellent flavor, ideal for slicing and sandwiches but not I suppose, so good for juicing.

The last of our four varieties to ripen was Bush Beefsteak, tried this year for the first time. They are large, but compared with the others at the same meal, lack flavor.

These four tomato varieties are all of the bush or non-staking, non-pruning types, and are now producing quantities of ripe fruit. We do not pick any before fully ripened, as so much of the fine flavor and quality is lost by indoor ripening.

Airsickness
Thing of Past
By Radar's Aid?

VANCOUVER — Airborne weather radar, the newest method for the prevention of airsickness, will be in use on all Canadian Pacific Airlines international routes by Sept. 1, it was announced here today.

Radar-equipped Super DC-6B Empress airliners will first see service on the company's entire 33,000-mile overseas route pattern when the Empress of Lisbon, one of four new aircraft with the radar installed, crosses the South Pacific from Vancouver to the Antipodes.

Airborne weather radar makes airsickness a thing of the past by providing for the smooth and comfortable operation of aircraft in all weather conditions.

Thunderheads and other areas of turbulence are graphically pictured on a screen resembling a small television set in the cockpit. Thus the pilot can plot a smooth course through all kinds of weather even while flying in pitch darkness.

All new CPA aircraft will be equipped with the new radar.

Jobs for 10 Million Predicted by 1980

OTTAWA (CP)—The swelling army of Canadian employed in providing services for their fellow citizens may be more than doubled in the next quarter-century.

In a special study for the Gordon economic commission, the Bank of Montreal estimated the Canadian labor force may double to about 10,000,000 by 1980 with those employed in service industries increasing to 4,675,000 from 1,931,000 in 1951.

On the basis of trends, the bank predicted the proportion of the labor force employed in providing services may rise to 55 per cent by 1980 from 46 in 1951 and 20 in 1981, assuming a continued increase in the real income of Canadians.

The proportion in production industries would remain unchanged at about 35 per cent while that in agriculture would drop to 10 per cent from 19.

Analyzing the various service industries, the Bank of Montreal disputed the widely held view that the days of wholesal-

MARKET SUMMARIES

Trading Volume Low On Toronto Change

The stock market in Toronto was moderately higher today in slow mid-afternoon trading.

The 2 p.m. volume of 1,409,000 shares was the second lowest of the year.

Early gains on the New York market increased late this afternoon in sluggish pre-holiday trading.

AT TORONTO Pacific Petroleum added 1/4 in western oils. Canadian Husky and Dome Exploration showed fractional gains. Canadian Atlantic climbed 3/4 cents to $7.20.

Industrials added to earlier gains and were featured by a 1/4-point advance by Trans-Mountain at 93 1/2. Dominion Steel showed a point gain at 28 1/4.

Mines were featured by strong gains among uranium. Gunner climbed 1/4 to 18 1/4. Senior base metals were fractionally higher. Lower-priced mines were mixed in narrow range trading.

AT NEW YORK aircraft and missile-making stocks went to the upside after early irregularity.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up $1.30 at $174.30.

Canadian gainers included McIntyre Porcupine, up 3/4, Aluminum Ltd., 1/2, and Canadian Pacific, 1/4.

Prominent Canadian issues on the American exchange included Fargro Oil, up 3/16; Preston East Dome, up 1/4; and the Loblaw, down 5/16.

AT MONTREAL the stock market showed a strong tendency in moderate afternoon industrial trading.

Trans-Mountain picked up 2 points at 93, and in the refining group McCall at 71 and Imperial at 48 1/2 each gained 1/2, while Canadian Oil was up 1/4 at 35. Algoma alone was active in steel, slipping 1/4 to 31 1/2.

AT LONDON business continued quiet.

Glittered securities slumped. There were fears that the August gold and dollar figures, due next week, may show a sharp decline.

Foreigners were quiet and irregular. Dollar stocks were firm in spots. Cotton textiles were firm on good trade reports. Electrical issues also firmed.

Tobacco improved. There was little interest in mining shares. Copper shares were dull.

AT VANCOUVER there was a slight rise in prices at a moderate market. Futurity sold 2,700 at $0.80. Cowichan Copper moved 4,400, going up to $1.70. Vantor traded 6,400 at $1.78. Trojan moved 7,800 at $2.

Bright Fishing Future Predicted in Report

BACK TO UNIVERSITY
goes C. D. Howe, former federal minister of trade and commerce. He has been appointed First Chancellor of Dalhousie University, Halifax, where he had been civil engineering professor 49 years ago. He came to Canada from the Institute of Technology in Massachusetts. (CP)

OTTAWA (CP)—More fish with a higher cash value being caught by fewer fishermen during the next quarter-century is envisaged in a study issued today by the Gordon economic commission.

The federal fisheries department and the fisheries research board, which prepared the study, said conditions appear favorable for the economic growth of Canada's $200,000, 600-a-year commercial fishing industry.

They predicted the present fishing force of some 80,000 would drop to about 67,000 by 1980 as mechanization increased. Some 2,100,000,000 pounds of live fish were required to meet Canada's domestic and export needs in 1955. Another 800,000,000 pounds—an increase of some 60 per cent—would be needed in the future. Utilization of the rich Pacific salmon canning industry probably would reach 2,300,000 cases (of 48 pounds each) by 1980 against 1,000,000 in 1955.

Prices were expected to go up. With present market requirements pressing on the physical quantities that could be taken each year from salt and fresh water, "the course of prices is reasonably clear."

The fisheries study saw one dark spot—the plight of small fishermen in isolated Atlantic and income is low.

The submission foresaw technological developments, such as preservation of fish by antibiotics, new fish-finding equipment, icing-in-the-hold techniques and mechanized curing, as coming into greater use.

GREAVES UPSET
JEANNETTE, Pa. (AP)—Bobby Gordon, a 2-to-1 underdog from Akron, Ohio, upset Edmonton middleweight Wilf Greaves Thursday night, winning a unanimous decision in the 10-round feature bout of a boxing card here.

Proof positive of fishing stories constantly passed out by Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau is provided by George Warren. The bureau director knows what he's talking about when he praises

Island fishing for benefit of tourists. This bevy (41 in all) of beautiful trout was caught by Warren at Forbes Landing on Lower Campbell Lake during weekend. (Times Photo.)

FISHING ROUNDUP

Big Ones Move At Port Alberni

Fishing continues at its usual summer pace around Vancouver Island. In other words, it's good all over.

Best news comes from Port Alberni, where reports have it that the big tyee and coho are starting to run. Top lure for the big fellows is the Lucky Louie plug, but the silver Alaska is taking its share.

Campbell River, too, is producing tyee in good numbers, and they're hitting bucktail flies and herring strip. Tyee between 30 and 40 pounds are most plentiful at the river mouth, while limits of spring and coho are being taken off Shelter and Willow Points.

PLENTY AT COURTENAY

Courtenay reports coho in abundance, but the tyee are there also. Fishermen missed the first run of the big ones, however, when a storm swept the rivers and allowed the fish to go right up.

From Oyster Bay comes a report of fine bucktail fishing, while the humpbacks are due to hit the mouth of the river for surf-casting action any day. At Qualicum the fishing is good, but deep. Small plugs are producing a few springs, while anglers using herring strip are bringing in their limits of coho. The silvers are not taking bucktails in any great quantity, however.

Limits are being taken in spring and coho with strip casting at French Creek. Again, herring strip is the best bet. In lower Island waters, coho, grise, jackspring and spring are coming in regularly at Saanich Inlet, where both the Brentwood and Goldstream ends report excellent angling.

Most fish are being taken close to the surface on four to eight ounces of weight, with Tom Mack spoon, Mac Squid plug, minnow and strip being the best lures.

As usual, early morning and evening fishing is most productive.

Around Oak Bay and Esquimalt prospects are good for the annual Esquimalt Anglers' Association coho derby.

STARTS SATURDAY

Derby gets under way Saturday morning at daylight and will close at 9 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Final gun goes off Monday at 7 p.m. and all fish must be weighed in at Anglers' Rest, Kinver Beach, by that time.

Boundaries for fishing will be a line from the grain elevator to Brothie Light and from there to Albert Head. Those fishing outside the limits will be disqualified.

At Cowichan, too, it looks good for the annual Cowichan Bay Salmon Club ladder derby fishoff Sunday. Both spring and coho are running well.

The 50 Cowichan qualifiers must be at the Government Wharf at 5 a.m. A cloth marker will be given to each contestant at the wharf, to be carried in the bow of the boat at all times while contestant is fishing.

BIG HORNS MISS

Bill's Display Leads Butlers

Queens Park Arena in New Westminster may not be quite the same for some time to come following a display of lacrosse power put on by Victoria's Butler Brothers and Bill Munroe Thursday as they hammered out an 18-6 win over New Westminster to take the B.C. bantam lacrosse championship in a sudden-death final.

It was a little different story with Juvenile A Big Horns. They failed in their bid to make it five provincial titles brought home to Victoria so far this year. Big Horns ran into an East Burnaby team that took over early in the game to drum out a 15-5 win.

The senior game was anti-climactic following on the heels of Butlers' win.

NINE FOR MUNROE

Munroe, who has averaged 12 points a game in the Victoria league this season, capped his year with a nine-goal performance that was enough to beat the Royal City team single-handedly.

Running-mate John Hansen scored four more in a fine display and Bruce Mitchell notched a pair.

With a 10-1 lead at the half, Butlers loosened up in the final frame when New Westminster scored four of its goals.

Big Horns hurt themselves more than Burnaby did as they played loose-checking lacrosse that allowed Keith Jackson to get the mainlanders away to a fast start. He scored four of his five goals in the opening canto.

Tom Collett led the Victorian scorers with three goals.

East Burnaby—Keith Jackson 5, Kelvin Kyle 2, Bob Bateman 2, Dave Storrer 2, Dave Harrison. Total—15.
Big Horns—Tom Collett 3, Norm Hiron, Bob Harris. Total—8.

Butlers—John Hansen 4, Bruce Mitchell 2, Bill Dunkworth, Gary Zelik, Glen Vickers. Total—18.

COURTENAY, B.C. (CP)

Courtenay CRA edged Port Alberni Swim Club 367½ points to 328½ to win a two-meet, total-point competition and the inter-club trophy here Wednesday night.

PAYS FOR FUEL

Passenger Bails Out Giant Stranded Plane

OAKLAND, Calif. (UP)—Embarassed Transocean Airlines executives admitted Thursday that they had to borrow the gasoline credit card of an obliging passenger last week so that a chartered Super Constellation could take off from Ontario.

The company said the big four-engine airplane was temporarily stranded at the southern California airport when a gasoline salesman refused to accept the pilot's Esso credit card for $1,135.58 worth of gasoline.

The impasse was broken, however, when a passenger, Bill Hendrie, manager of the Barstow, Calif., Chamber of Commerce, came forward and signed for the whopping gas purchase with his personal Shell card.

The mixup was confirmed by Douglas Johnson, Transocean's executive vice-president, who said a cheque for the amount, plus the company's thanks, would be awaiting Hendrie when he arrived back in the United States last night.

"We have an exclusive contract with Esso for our gasoline and they are supposed to cross-bill with the other gasoline companies," Johnson said, "but apparently the salesman at Ontario hadn't heard of such a thing."

Transocean said the Super Constellation normally carries about 5,500 gallons of gasoline for the California-to-Hawaii trip.

Thomas Hill, 54, 797 Scott, was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital Wednesday at 3 p.m. for facial abrasions and a cut mouth, which he received when the car he was driving was in collision with a bus at Discovery and Government.

The RCAF Search and Rescue Centre today warned shipping of navy firing practice in the Victoria-Esquamalt area most of next month.

The anti-aircraft firing will take place in areas N-A and N-B daily between 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Sept. 3 to Sept. 31.

'Criticism' of Yard Earns Budget Boost

SEATTLE (AP)—The American crime expert who started a furore last month with his criticism of Scotland Yard as "out of date," said Thursday the whole thing was a "put-up" job.

Dr. Charles Larson, president of the College of American Pathologists, told The Times he made his criticism of the cherished British police headquarters to help Scotland Yard get more funds for its crime laboratory.

"As a matter of fact, the director of Scotland Yard arranged to have the reporter interview me," Dr. Larson said.

The director told him the British Home Office granted only £1,000 annually for equipment.

"I was amazed," Dr. Larson said. "No decent laboratory could exist with that amount."

Scotland Yard officials then asked him to intercede for them with "some American foundation."

Instead, he told an interviewer here, he decided on the method of a press interview.

"No one in England criticizes the Yard," said the doctor. "My words were a real shock. I am happy to say the Home Office has increased the budget."

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by club readers and those who suggest the questions he selects to answer; will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngsters who answer the first question answered each day receive a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times. Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Dottie Nachman, age 13, of Columbus, Ohio, for her question:

How does soap remove dirt?

Many of Andy's young friends feel it's a chore to soap up with lather, rinse off and wipe dry. Then comes along the magic of curiosity. You wonder how the frothy stuff works to steal away the dirt. Ordinary water and bubbles won't do the job, yet soap seems to be only water and bubbles. Curiosity makes the chore into a guessing game and before you know it everyone is admiring your bright face, clean hands and goodness, even clean pink ears.

Soap is a mixture of soda and alkali. Like every other substance, it is made of tiny molecules—too small for our eyes to see. The molecules of soap carry a special magic which goes to work when the soap is mixed with water. The job of stealing the dirt is done by these strange little molecules.

Each kind of molecule in the world is different from every other kind. Each kind has its own character. It will mix with this stuff but not with that stuff. Oil and water will not mix because the particles of which they are made refuse to associate with each other. The molecule of soap, however, has a very special nature. It can mix with both oil and water.

A soap molecule is long in shape. And each end has different qualities. One end attracts water and the other attracts oil. When you lather up the bubbles, these tiny mites are set free to pull with each arm. One arm attaches itself to water. The other arm attaches itself to some oily bit of dirt.

But, you say, all the dirt is not greasy or oily. Actually it is. Your skin is coated with a fine film of oil, the natural brilliantine which keeps it smooth and silky. Dirt sticks to you because dusty particles get stuck on this skin oil. Dirt sticks to your clothes for the same reason. So run the warm water into the basin and grab a bar of soap. Stroke it and rub it in the water until the frothy, foamy lather begins to form. The bitsy soap molecules are now all free and ready to go to work for you. Each sends one arm towards a greasy speck of dirt. The other arm is firmly attached to the water. Then the pulling game starts. It is a merry tug of war as each soap molecule pulls a bit of oily dirt into the water. And while all this fun is going on, your hands are washed clean for you. Rinse off the dirty water, wipe dry and arrive at the dinner table all spic and span.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Murray Iwasaki, age 14, of Ottawa, Ont., for his question:

What is plankton?

Plankton is a very fine sea-food salad which floats in the ocean waters. It is made of bitsy plants and animals, usually too small to be seen as individuals. The plant life is composed mostly of little algae, midge relatives of the drifting seaweeds. There are also little diatoms, fairy plants that ornament themselves in crusty shells of countless designs.

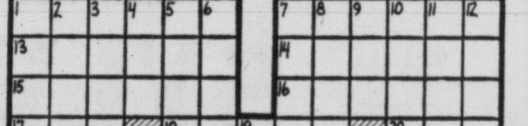

The seafood part of plankton is composed of tiny crustaceans, fish eggs and the glassy little larvae of larger fishes. The crustaceans are water fleas, small shrimp and other small shell-coated sea dwellers.

Plankton is a well rounded balanced diet for countless fish of the deep ocean. It is the sole food of the blue baleen whale—the largest animal in the whole world.

Postal executives supplied the ideas for the design. Karsh supplied a portrait he took of the Queen and Prince Philip, and Bank Note Company designers and engravers went to work to copy the facial likenesses in profile and engrave them for printing.

The stamp, slightly larger than the present Canadian one to five-cent issues, which carry the Queen's likeness, is delicately done, with a fine, shaded background. In the profiles, with Her Majesty in front and Prince Philip behind at the right side of her face, the Queen's mouth shows the wisp of a smile. Both are bare headed.

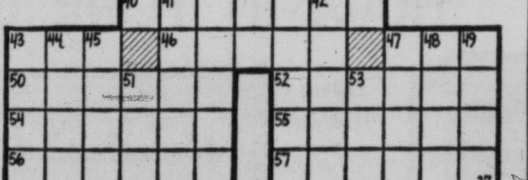

For collectors who want panels of the new stamp, these will be issued in standard panels of 100 stamps each, despite the enlarged size of the new issue. Philatelists may get their local postmasters to cancel first-day covers, or may send their covers to Ottawa where for an extra charge they will be cancelled with the words "first day of issue" in English and French.

OTTAWA (CP)—A new, black-and-white five-cent stamp, showing Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip in profile, is being issued by the post office department to commemorate the October visit of the royal couple.

The department announced today that the stamp will go on sale Oct. 10, two days before the Queen and the Prince arrive in Ottawa for a four-day visit.

The black-and-white halftone stamp is the combined product of the post office, Ottawa photographer Yousuf Karsh and

Seaman Survives Ordeal In Shark-Ridden Waters

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—In shark-infested waters before Douglas Wardrop, 22, a British seaman who spent nine hours being rescued, said today he prayed for a quick death.

Wardrop, second officer on the motor ship British Monarch, fell overboard last June 9 when the vessel was four days out of Panama. The vessel arrived here Thursday from Fiji.

Wardrop's disappearance was discovered four hours later and the ship retraced its course and found him swimming in the calm tropical waters.

"I put my trust in God," he said while awaiting return of the ship.

"I remember praying if it is God's will, take me in what way you care. If it has to be a shock, make it quick."

Wardrop said he fell overboard in darkness when he climbed to the rail to examine a line. He seized the line, but it was towing him under and he had to let go. He shouted, but most of the crew was asleep.

Wardrop said he tread water most of the time. Electric eels stung him frequently, he said, but no sharks appeared.

A large friendly turtle stayed by his side most of the time, he said occasionally nudging him and "giving me a few laughs."

Wardrop, whose home is in Seven Oaks, Kent, England, said he was conscious when pulled from the water and was able to climb the pilot ladder without assistance.

HONG KONG (AP)—Peiping radio today said two groups of special agents of the "American Intelligence Bureau" have been sentenced to prison terms in the Manchurian city of Mukden. The radio said the leader of the gang, identified as a Col. Wang, was given life imprisonment. Three others received jail terms of eight to 15 years.

Presley Ego Takes a Beating, Only 20 at Spokane to Meet Him

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Six companions ran tight interference for Elvis Presley when he arrived here Thursday night aboard the Great Northern Empire Builder.

The football formation was hardly needed since only about 20 of the rock 'n' roll singer's fans showed up at the station.

"Are you ready for the (tonight's) show at the stadium?" a reporter shouted.

"Ready Teddy," replied Presley in passing.

The singer is on a Pacific Northwest tour.

More than 1,000 persons showed up at the railroad station in Havre, Mont., to greet their idol and broke into boos when Presley did not make an appearance from the train.

Presley will appear at the PNE in Vancouver Saturday.

New Japanese Star Takes Fame With Grain of Salt

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"It has all been a dream. Even if nothing else happened in my career, I would be satisfied."

This is the realistic statement by Miiko Taka, who suddenly found herself thrust from obscurity to the position of Marion Brando's leading lady. And she faces the possibility of a return to obscurity with an Oriental calm.

"I realize there are not many opportunities for Oriental actresses in Hollywood," she remarked. "I was always too shy." But she was pronounced perfect for the role as Brando's sweetheart in James Michener's "Sayonara."

PURE CHANCE

She got the job purely by chance.

"A year ago I was attending the annual Nisei Festival in Los Angeles," said Miiko, who was born in Seattle and grew up here.

It happened that a Warner Bros. talent scout was prowling the festival for the "Sayonara" girl. The studio had looked for one in Japan, but couldn't find one who fit the part and could handle English. Warners was considering the casting of a non-Oriental, perhaps Audrey Hepburn.

The scout tabbed Miiko as a possibility, but she cast aside his proposal for an interview at the studio.

"But that weekend, I went to see the movie 'The King and I,'" she related. "I was much impressed by the meeting of the two cultures—the East and the West.

"I had also gone to Japan after the war to visit my parents' homeland. It had impressed me how traditional everything is over there, and how it is the reverse here."

2,700 Entries In Saanich Fair

$6,000 in Prizes as Gov't Boosts
Grants for New Class 'B' Status

SAANICHTON—Annual fall fair of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society, being held for the first time this year with Class B status, promises to be one of the best in the 89-year history of the fair.

Entries are expected to top 2,700, according to entry secretary Arthur C. Howe.

This figure will include 130 horses in western and English riding classes and heavy sections, 300 head of cattle, 50 goats, 200 rabbits, 75 hens and 200 sheep.

More than 40 youngsters have entered the Highland dancing and piping events, double last year.

Because of its Class B status and increased federal and provincial government support, $6,000 will be distributed in prizes. Prize money in the Indian section has been doubled.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett will open the fair Monday afternoon. For the past several weeks volunteer workers have been improving the grounds, but activity increased this week with 30 to 40 workers appearing daily.

A well was brought into production on the grounds Thursday to give the society its own water supply, and extra horse stalls have been built.

Attendance last year topped 10,000, and fair officials hope to top that this year.

One of the regular visitors expected is George T. Michell, 3831 Cumberland Road, native son of the district who has attended almost every "Saanich-ton Fair" since the first.

Saturday will be the big day for 4-H Clubs and western horse events. Highland dancing, English saddle classes, cattle judging and other events will take place Monday.

Albert Doner, president of the society, is general chairman of the fair. His chief assistants are vice-presidents Frank Butler and G. F. Altken, and Mr. Howe.

Yachtsman Upset Over Sydney Wharf

SIDNEY (CP) — A North Vancouver yachtsman complained to the Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce about the inadequacy of wharfing facilities here.

"We were flabbergasted at the horrible inadequacy of the docking facilities provided by the Canadian government," wrote W. G. Moffitt after visiting Sidney harbor with a flotilla of pleasure craft.

"Owners of some cruisers had to anchor out and row into the wharf in dinghies. Others tied up in groups two or three abreast, necessitating walking over each other's decks to get ashore."

"There is no end to the business opportunities that could be developed if safe wharfage was made available."

M & B Operations Resume Tuesday

CHEMAINUS — Both the Copper Canyon and Nanaimo Lakes logging operations of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. will resume work Tuesday following a month long shut-down.

All crews will be on regular shift.

New Notice Board To Tidy Up Streets

CHEMAINUS—Local groups and organizations are invited to take advantage of the community notice board erected at the corner of Mill Road and Willow Street by the municipality of North Cowichan.

Posting of notices, handbills, and signs on power and telephone poles in the municipality is contrary to by-law, and council hopes that the new notice board will prove to be a suitable place for the advertisements which formerly were displayed at random throughout the municipality.

1,000 Attend Fall Fair On Salt Spring Island

FULFORD HARBOR—Nearly 1,000 residents and visitors attended the Salt Spring Island fall fair held Wednesday in the community hall here.

Sponsored by the Islands Farmers' Institute, the 43rd annual fair was opened by Mrs. Buda Brown, M.L.A., Vancouver-Point Grey, who was introduced by George Heinekey, president of the institute. Other members of the fall fair committee were Bevis Walters, Mrs. Peter Cartwright and Harold Price.

Among the special attractions were sheep dog trials by W. P. Evans, Ganges; equestrienne exhibition by Miss Donna Milligan, Ganges; and displays of chinchillas, mink, rabbits, forestry and earthworm culture.

Grand aggregate prize for the dairy produce section was the Bank of Montreal silver tray awarded to Mrs. D. Fraser. Top prize for the floral section was the W. Nichol Rose Bowl, awarded to Mrs. A. Davis, and grand aggregate for poultry section was the White Wings Fowlery Ranch annual trophy awarded to L. Mollett.

awarded to Mrs. G. Laundry. Other major trophies were the grand aggregate in the fruit section, won by Miss G. C. Hamilton, and the Colonist Cup for vegetables awarded to L. Mollett.

3 SEEKING ELECTION

PARKSVILLE—Three men will contest an election Sept. 5 for a village commissioner to fill a term to end in December, 1958.

Latest candidate to enter the field is Arthur Butler, Parksville fire chief and logger at Northwest Bay.

Others are William Fulcher, a former commissioner, and Victor C. Finholm, a logging operator.

The election was forced through the resignation of Thomas Bonar, who left here to take a position in the interior. Neither Mr. Finholm nor Mr. Butler has taken part in an election before.

Village Status Considered By Ladysmith

LADYSMITH (CP) — Ald. P. R. Battle Wednesday night gave notice he will introduce a by-law at next council meeting, Sept. 20, seeking to change the city's status to that of a village.

The new Municipal Act enables the change. Council was told it could save $6,500 on policing costs and $2,000 on social welfare as a village.

Council would be cut to four aldermen from present five, saving another $250, and magistrates' fees would be reduced by $420, bringing the city's total net savings as a village close to $8,000.

The act will be studied by aldermen. If they favor the change citizens likely will vote in October.

Rough Road Shifted Load, Jury Believes

CAMPBELL RIVER—A load of logs shifted on a rough road, causing the death Wednesday at Salmon River of truck driver Albert J. Loisele when he unfastened the load, a coroner's jury suggested here Thursday.

The 25-year-old Vancouver driver, who was to have been married in a few days, was killed instantly when the top four logs on the load rolled on him.

The logs had been loaded at the Elk Falls Company dock at Duncan Bay for use on a B.C. Power Commission diversion scheme on the Salmon River.

The road from the dock to the project site is rough, it was suggested, and could have caused the logs to move. There were no witnesses.

Const. George Meyer, RCMP, said all equipment appeared to be in good order.

The jury recommended that cranes or other suitable equipment be used for unloading operations.

Hospital Extends Visiting Hours

LADYSMITH—A new visiting plan to permit adult patients to have visitors at any time daily between 2.30 and 8 p.m. will be tried here for a month, starting Sept. 1.

Trustees of the hospital board said success of the plan will depend on the co-operation of the public, in that patients should not be disturbed unduly. Several short visits are preferable to one long one, they said.

Visits to child patients will be allowed between 2.30 and 6 p.m. Children under 14 years will not be permitted in the hospital, and patients in the maternity ward will be allowed to see only husbands and mothers during their first three days.

NEW RATE

Daily rate in the hospital has been set by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service at $12.90, according to a letter from W. J. Lyle, BCHIS finance manager. The new rate represents a gain over the previous rate of $12.50, but trustees had asked for $13.25.

The board has been granted a special allowance of $2,100 toward the cost of moving patients from the old hospital to the new building completed this year.

The new administrator, John Simons, formerly of White Rock, was welcomed by board chairman D. H. McKay. Mr. McKay, W. C. Jones and C. D. Roberts were named to negotiate with George Darling, Nanaimo, for continuation of his laboratory services.

OLD AND NEW IN FIRE FIGHTING

Impressive three-quarter-hour display of pumper and fire boats held Thursday at transport department wharf in conjunction with convention of B.C. fire chiefs which ends here today. Equipment from city, municipalities and adjoining communities took part, as well as two fire boats of Island Tug & Barge. Island Tug vessels patrol harbor on voluntary basis, and as city Fire Chief Frank Briers said "often put out fires on boats before we hear about them." Old horse-drawn pumper on left points up progress made in fire fighting. Hundreds of spectators enjoyed the watery show. (Times Photo by Irving Strickland.)

FUEL OIL PRICES CUT BY HALF-CENT GALLON

The price of fuel oil has been cut one-half cent a gallon here to 22.3 cents, plus half a cent sales tax. Affected are furnace, stove and diesel fuels and kerosene. An oil company spokesman said the reductions were made "for competitive reasons." The reduction means a saving to the average home owner using oil of about $3 a year. The cut-back was made effective Tuesday.

Holidayayers Ignore Threat Of Bad Weather

Bad weather is expected to mar the Labor Day weekend, last extended holiday weekend of the summer. With transportation facilities booked to the top, and a full sports program slated, storm clouds are moving in from the Pacific Ocean.

"An active storm centre 900 miles west of here will give increasing cloud tonight, cloudy skies Saturday, and the possibility of rain Saturday afternoon or evening," said weatherman William Mackie.

"If the weather follows a usual pattern, then Sunday will give us a mixture of cloud and sunshine, and there is the chance that Monday might be a 'reasonable' day," he said.

Temperatures will be in the moderate range, he said, with a maximum of only 65 degrees expected Saturday.

Travel men will have every possible bus, boat and aircraft in operation Saturday and Sunday to move the thousands who plan a trip for the last long holiday weekend of the summer.

Trans-Canada Air Lines will run its 21 regular flights and six extra between here and Vancouver Saturday, and 20 regular and five extra Monday.

There will be five regular flights and two extra between here and Seattle Saturday and Monday.

Several CPR sailings from here and Nanaimo are sold out, and officials say reservations are a "must."

Bridegroom Unconscious

A 35-year-old man, still unconscious from head injuries received in a solo traffic accident in Sooke Thursday night, is spending his wedding day in St. Joseph's Hospital.

John Hamer, 3356 Anchorage, was supposed to have been married in Vancouver at 10.30 a.m. today to Jean Poulsen, 3344 Ocean Boulevard, Esquimalt Lagoon.

He was en route to his fiancée's home at about 6.45 p.m. when his car apparently went out of control on the Sooke Road, near Humpback Road.

SOMERSAULTED It somersaulted several times and wound up, a total wreck, in a blackberry thicket at the side of the road.

Colwood RCMP attended the accident and the unconscious man was taken to hospital by Langford ambulance.

He was reported unconscious but "improving" today.

Mr. Hamer had planned to leave with his fiancée on the Thursday midnight boat to Vancouver.

Libel Action Threatened By Inspector

Legal action for libel was threatened today against the president of Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association by city sanitary inspector Elwood Gropp.

Writer of a letter to city council, H. Watson, was told to apologize for a statement concerning competency of city inspectors.

The letter was received by council last week. It's sequel was a flare-up by the sanitary inspector when Mr. Watson headed a delegation which appeared before Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson's health and welfare meeting this morning.

BITTER REBUKE Mr. Watson had written a bitter rebuke of the committee because of delays in settling the controversy over Victoria's sink by-law. It requires a sink be installed in every housekeeping room.

Although it has been in effect since 1949, it has never been enforced. A majority of roominghouse owners have complied with the regulations.

The ratepayers' organization is championing the minority which has never complied.

The ratepayers have asked the committee to exempt all housekeeping units which have not so far complied but enforce the law against new conversions and new rooming-houses.

NO CONFIDENCE Mr. Watson wrote his group had no confidence in Ald. Wilson's committee, it is wasting the taxpayers' money.

He included then the statement regarding inspectors on city business.

Mr. Gropp told Mr. Watson, "If you're going to insist on making statements like that, we are going to see a lawyer. I think you should apologize."

TEISSUE OF LIES Mr. Gropp brought copies of correspondence which refuted other charges. He told Mr. Watson his letter "is nothing but a tissue of lies. You have hearsay evidence and you put it in writing. This is a very serious thing."

Mr. Watson said he was sorry if he had hurt anyone's feelings.

The health committee was unable to reach a decision on enforcement of the by-law and turned the matter over to a sub-committee for a further meeting with the ratepayers.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—What causes most earthquakes?—P. L.

A.—Earthquakes are movements of the earth's crust and conditions which cause it are to be found where the crust is the most uneven, such as where high mountains exist near very low areas. The Pacific coast is one such region.

Q.—Why is the dandelion such a pest in our lawns and gardens?—O. D.

A.—The dandelion is a real champion of getting along in the world. Each plant grows year after year from a deep root. If leaves or flowers are cut, more grow in a few days. The hollow flower stems can grow several feet high to reach sunlight, but hug the ground if cut.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Death Car Driver, 15, Sent To Assize Court for Trial

Fifteen-year-old driver of a death car, Barry Jackson, 2604 Roseberry, today was committed for trial at the fall assize on a manslaughter charge.

Magistrate A. L. Thomas conducted the final session in city police court of a preliminary hearing into a stolen car chase that ended in death for one youth July 26.

Gunnar Stebeck, 13, of 1430 Pembroke, died almost immediately when the car jumped a 50-foot incline from Dallas Road to Stoney Beach.

Two other youths, James Lott, 13, and Ray Murdoch, 13, have regained consciousness at St. Joseph's Hospital. Their condition is reported to be improving.

Testimony was heard today from Cpl. Leslie Ledson, Saanich police, who chased the stolen car at about 4 a.m. through the city and was first to arrive at the crash scene.

His car reached a speed of "very close to 100 miles an hour," he said, and was not gaining on the stolen station wagon as it sped through the city.

"As we got down towards Dallas Road I eased the throttle," he said.

The stolen station wagon continued straight ahead over the boulevard and disappeared from sight in a screen of dust.

Cpl. Ledson stopped the police car and with his companion, Const. E. C. Owens, attempted to find which way the car had gone.

Cpl. Ledson found the car on the beach.

"I went to the car and I saw a youth (Jackson) stretched out across the front seat, lying on his stomach," he said. "The car was wearing was pulled up over his head and caught over the steering wheel and signalling device. I freed him and eased him down to the gravel."

"HE WAS DEAD" "Then I went to the rear and found another youth (Stebeck) lying face down in the gravel. As far as I could see, he was dead."

"I then went to the front of the car and found two other boys lying on the gravel where they had slid under a burnt log."

City police, called by Const. Owens, arrived with stretchers at that time and took the boys to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Questioned later that day Jackson admitted he had been driving the stolen car, Const. Walter Calwell, city police, told the magistrate.

He reported the youth had said "I was doing about 100 miles an hour. I applied my brakes but it didn't seem to have any effect."

Const. Calwell stated the boy had realized a police car was chasing the station wagon but said "I didn't want to be caught in a stolen car."

At Dallas Road, the youth told the constable, he had intended to turn into a driveway "and make a run for it."

Sister Mary Dostheus, St. Joseph's Hospital, testified she had given Jackson a hypodermic of morphine at about 4.50 a.m., one-half hour after he had been admitted.

Jackson was able to talk and answer questions, but was in a state of slight shock, she said.

The youth suffered swelling on the right side of his head, but there were no signs of brain damage, Dr. J. W. E. Hunt told the court.

PRE-MARITAL COUNSELLING PROGRAM

Fewer Misses For Mr. and Mrs.

By DINAH KERR

Ministers develop a sixth sense that tells them whether or not a marriage will "click," Dr. F. E. H. James of Metropolitan United Church says.

But often when they sense marital disaster, it's too late to do anything about it.

"The tragedy is that young couples usually have all their plans made before they come for a talk with the minister,"

Dr. James said.

"Sometimes we can get them to reconsider, but not very often."

That is one reason why United Churches across the country are instituting courses in pre-marital counselling this fall.

In Victoria the combined United Church program probably will be held under auspices of young adults' and married couples' clubs.

Family Life Committees for Each Church

Family life committees will be set up in each church of Victoria presbytery to plan the counselling program, Dr. James said. Tentative plans include a series of 10 lectures by doctors, psychologists, ministers and bank managers, plus film strips on marriage.

Ministers, however, will continue to give individual counsel to the prospective Mr. and Mrs.

Dr. James uses a pre-marital questionnaire as a conversation guide. The first question he asks is "How long have you known each other?"

"You'd be surprised how many have just met and haven't even told their parents yet," he said.

Dr. James also asks them if they're really in love—"this is usually self-evident," he says—what the family thinks of the marriage, how their ages correspond, if their prospective partner has any irritating personality traits, their economic plans, what kind of friends they hope to have, their plans for living accommodation, whether they've received any instruction on sex, and what part religion will play in their lives.

No Marryin' Sams—Must Be Above-Board

Ministers are not Marryin' Sams, he explained. "This is a Christian church and a marriage ceremony must be above-board."

Dr. James has officiated at almost 4,000 marriages in his 31-year ministry, but he also has refused to read the wedding vows on "several occasions."

Late one night a man came to Dr. James' parish door in Alberta with a pregnant girl and asked him to marry them. Three weeks earlier the man had driven his wife to suicide through his infidelity.

"I refused to have anything to do with it," Dr. James said. But he did marry a 25-year-old woman to an 84-year-old man.

A woman with no other marriage prospects, she told Dr. James "I love this man and we've been friends for a long time." The idea was that she would take care of the old man and on his death inherit the house.

"They were quite compatible," Dr. James said.

YOUTH TIRES OF WALKING DOG, DEMANDS RIDE WITH STRANGER

A teenager, apparently tired of walking his dog, hailed a car pulling away from a stop sign on Springfield Thursday afternoon and demanded that the driver, Mrs. C. E. Adams, 255 West Maddock, take him home.

When she refused, he scooped up the dog and plumped himself in the car, Mrs. Adams said.

"So I turned off the motor, grabbed the keys and ran to the nearest house."

"The boy waited further down the block for me and when I drove off, he stepped into the middle of the road and asked me why I didn't drop dead," she said.

"I've never seen him before in my life."

Mrs. Adams phoned city police from her home, reporting the incident.

Mrs. Lee had turned away from her ironing board and fell to the floor when her foot slipped. Her cries were heard by Stan Darling, a plumber who had been working in an upstairs apartment.

Mr. Darling called city police and the woman was taken to hospital by police ambulance.

Arena Closed For Two Weeks Starting Oct. 1

Memorial Arena will be closed to all activities for two weeks starting Oct. 1 while annual overhaul of the freezing system is carried out.

City engineer J. C. Garnett said work is actually starting now on repair of numerous leaks in the floor freezing pipes, but work will not be extensive enough to halt arena activities, until October.

City council recently confirmed an earlier decision to operate a "patch-and-pray" maintenance system for a few years until a new system could be afforded.

Civil Defence Evacuation Plans Not Outmoded by Missile Threat

Civil defence evacuation plans, are not outmoded by Russia's announcement earlier this week that it had successfully tested a long-range ballistic missile.

Gen. G. R. S. Stein, provincial CD co-ordinator, said today there were several reasons for not scrapping the plans.

"First, so far as Canada is concerned, the primary targets on the North American continent would be in the United States," he said.

"Firing of the first salvoes presumably would give Canada plenty of warning and evacuation could be carried out."

Secondly, it will be "some time" before Russia could develop and build sufficient ballistic missiles for a knock-out blow. Launching sites would have to be constructed and these would be detected easily.

"That alone would give us a strategic warning and the first phase of evacuation could be made," Gen. Stein said.

In CD parlance, a strategic warning is an alert issued by the government that the cold war is on the verge of turning into a hot one.

This would give several days' warning for carrying out of Phase A—the evacuation of the elderly, incapacitated and mothers with children as soon as the alert was issued.

"A ballistic missile makes no difference to that arrangement," Gen. Stein said. "All evacuation plans in B.C. have been co-ordinated with a strategic warning and do not necessarily depend on the operation of radar systems such as the DEW line."

Although DEW line flashes would be used for speeding up the tempo of evacuations, the strategic warning is still the keystone on which the CD evacuation plan is built.

"We've been aware that we might be confronted with missile attacks. The announcement is not something that has dropped on us out of the blue," he said.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Picnic Foods Head List For Weekend Marketing

By PENNY SAVER

Labor Day weekend is a traditional time for family picnics and food to be eaten outdoors tops this week's marketing list. Cold fried chicken is always popular, and you can buy it all cut up and ready to pop into the pan at 59 cents a pound. If you plan to go to a picnic site where there are barbecue facilities, hamburgers or hot dogs will make good eating. Ground beef is 39 cents a pound, and wieners 37 cents.

Tomatoes to be eaten whole are easy-to-prepare picnic fare, and you'll find them at 25 cents for two pounds, in a good eating size.

You'll want to take along plenty of fruit for dessert. You can buy five peaches or pears for 25 cents, and local egg plums are just 29 cents for three pounds.

Local Wealthy apples are 25 cents for two pounds and Gravensteins are three pounds for 25 cents.

Grapes are a good buy at the moment. I noticed red grapes, nice for picnic eating, selling at two pounds for 39 cents. Cantaloupes might be a little messy to eat outdoors, but you'll find them at just 39 cents for two.

Dill pickles are packaged in a new way that would be very convenient for carrying along on a picnic. They are packed two to a polythene sealed bag, for 19 cents.

There are plenty of pickling supplies in now. Brown pickling onions, looking exactly like miniature daffodil bulbs, are 19 cents a pound, and gherkins are two pounds for 25 cents.

Peaches for canning are at their lowest price yet this season—$1.99 a case.

Summer vegetables are at their best. Corn is just 49 cents for a dozen cobs this weekend. There are several types of squash on the market, including zucchini at 29 cents for three pounds.

Wedding of Interest Takes Place in East

Bouquets of tall gladioli decorated the Millgrove United Church Thursday evening for the marriage of Phyllis Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maynard Platt of Millgrove, Ont., to Rev. Thomas Leonard William Lanceley, son of Mr. Leonard Lanceley and the late Mrs. Lanceley, Belmont Avenue, Victoria. Rev. W. A. Dempsey officiated at the double-ring wedding and Mrs. Eric Duncan was organist.

Tiers of delicately embroidered silk organza created the full-skirted bridal gown that was fashioned with short sleeves and Sabrina neckline. The bride's headpiece of sequins and mother of pearl held a fingertip illusion veil and her bouquet was of Tallman roses.

Attending the dark-haired bride were her sisters, Mrs. Wilfred Wise and Mrs. Marshall Bethune, both of Hamilton, Ont. Their gowns were similarly styled in nylon tulle, with the former shrimp-colored, the latter, yellow. Both bridesmaids carried bouquets of blue carnations.

Grant Cummins was best man, while Murray Cummins and Douglas Platt, brother of the bride, ushered.

At a reception afterwards at Roberts' Restaurant, Hamilton, Mrs. C. M. Platt and Mrs. Humphreys, aunt of the groom, assisted in receiving.

For a honeymoon in northern Ontario, the bride wore a blue crepe sheath dress with draped neckline coming to a V at the back and white and black accessories.

The young couple will motor to Victoria, where they will make their home at 2023 Belmont Avenue.

Mrs. Norah Nicholls, executive director of the local YWCA, is going to Vancouver this weekend and will be present at the wedding in Christ Church Cathedral there on Saturday afternoon, of Miss Kathleen Lyall and Mr. Robert Angus Strang, Vancouver. The bride-elect is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Lyall of "The Hazels," Brickwood, near St. Albans, Herts, Eng. Her ancestry on her father's side, like that of the groom-elect, is Scottish. She has been in Canada for two years. Mr. Strang, formerly of the Canadian Merchant Marine, was born in Scotland, near Glasgow, and has been in Canada for 17 years. Mrs. Nicholls will represent the bride-elect's parents at the wedding.

On Etiquette

Gift for landlady:

I was ill for some time and my landlady was kind enough to let my rent go in arrears as I was unable to work. Now I am back on the job and all paid up. I would like to do something to show my appreciation. She has almost everything for her home, so I have decided on flowers. Could you suggest something especially nice that I could write on the card to show that I appreciate what she has done for me. Have you any other suggestions for a gift?

Louise Davis answers: What a thoughtful, considerate and humane landlady you have. And what a thoughtful and appreciative tenant she has! Deeds like these are faith-restoring and help make life worthwhile. Here is a suggestion for a message on your card: "To a very thoughtful and understanding landlady—and friend. With much appreciation, (your signature)." Flowers, of course, are always nice. Perhaps you might like to give her a subscription to a magazine.

Arthur Banks Coming With Fall Collection

Canadian women will be ahead of the fashion parade by the time the Queen and Prince Philip arrive at Ottawa in October, according to fashion experts.

Arthur Banks, a London couturier, is flying here with his collection of fall styles.

His show will include models of woolen suits, tweed ensembles, fine wool afternoon dresses, combination silk and brocade suits and silk cocktail dresses.

Bells Ring in Nova Scotia House

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Mrs. Charles Norton of nearby Sunny Brae has a hobby that opens the door to new friends and experiences.

She is a bell collector and her house contains about 200 bells of every description and from many lands.

The oldest bell in the collection is one brought to Nova Scotia by a Scottish settler who arrived on the Hector, in 1773.

The bottom of the bell is worn thin and the clapper is flat through use.

Animal bells have a great attraction for Mrs. Norton. She has bells once worn by elephants, camels, sheep and cows.

The bells used by camels have the strangest story. Oriental peoples claim that without the bells, camels lose their appetites and even their animation. Camel drivers hang bells around their tents at night.

Oddest item in the collection is a wooden bell, manufactured in Cape Breton, that produces no sound.

Far-Away Green Fields Beckon Victoria Girls

The "cold cruel world" is claiming them this fall. Victoria girls going abroad to study, that is.

Most colleges have sent out their formal acceptances and room numbers by now, and lucky are the girls that have finally "got word."

Pauline Beattie, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. N. Beattie, leaves today for Alma College, St. Thomas, Ont., where she will take a two-year course in medical stenography and music. Pauline graduated from Oak Bay High this year.

Meredith Savale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Savale, has recently been awarded a $1,800 scholarship at Queen's University, Kingston, and will study there for the next three years. Meredith has had one year at Victoria College.

A graduate of Victoria High, Georgina Pethard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Pethard, is now in London, Eng., to study music and singing under Miss Pamela Dodds for the next few years.

Susan Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lewis, has spent one year at Mills College, Calif., and will go either to UBC or the University of Colorado this fall to major in mathematics and finance.

Many on UBC Campus

Joan Anderson and Gillian Edgell just found out that they'll be boarding together at UBC come Sept. 23, and their arts course is beginning to look exciting. Alex Husband, Elisa Stenner and Sandra Gilmour will be at UBC too, on the second lap of the journey toward an arts degree.

A graduate of Mount View High, Donna Finch goes to UBC this fall for her third year of an arts course. Donna has plans for teaching. Merle Emery will also be on the Vancouver campus. She has taken two years at Victoria College and hopes to begin work towards a law degree this fall.

Marie Milburn, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Milburn, will take her final year of music at the University of Washington. She has already spent two years at Mills College and one at the University of Toronto. Jill Denny will also be at "U of W", starting her interior decorating course, while Heather Manson will be starting her third year arts. Heather and Jill both plan to become interior decorators.

A Bachelor of Science in Nursing lies ahead for Jill Denny.

Miss Lisa Sergio

Outstanding Woman Speaker Coming to City in October

Lisa Sergio, brilliant news commentator and lecturer, will appear in Victoria on Oct. 8, under sponsorship of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club. She will speak in the auditorium at Oak Bay Junior High School at 8 p.m. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the club.

Born in Florence, Italy, of an American mother, the celebrated Miss Sergio became an American citizen when she came to the United States in flight from certain arrest in Italy, where as chief radio commentator for Mussolini, she had tampered with the official scripts in order to let the world know the truth about Fascism.

Her talk here is one of a series in her current cross-country lecture tour, during which she will be heard in many cities.

In America, Miss Sergio, who has been called "the golden voice of Rome," began to broadcast the true facts about Fascism and during the war years her penetrating analysis of world affairs won her an ever-increasing radio audience.

One of her many radio awards was bestowed upon her with these words: "Miss Sergio remains one of our most cogent and provocative thinkers. She has a wide range of foreign political experiences to draw on for her background and virtually every topic she touches upon shows her knowledge and keen analytical ability. Her reflective air is a welcome relief from the near-hysteria manifested by some speakers. Hers is a welcome voice of sanity."

In Victoria Miss Sergio will speak on "New Thinking for New Freedoms."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

The old-time broom has a modern counterpart. Instead of bristles, this new broom has a foamed vinyl pad held in place by moulded polythene plastic. Dust and dirt tend to cling to the vinyl pad instead of flying into the air only to settle back on the floor and furniture.

Even with dryers, many housewives like to air their clothes on a line, especially in good, sunny weather. When hanging clothing, you can save yourself bending over for each article. Bring the articles within reach by using a wheeled cart or a table to hold the clothes basket.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If You Mind Having Grey Hair, Go Ahead and Dye It

(The Friday Question Box)

Q.—"My hair is mousy to say the least. Actually it is worse than that. The brown part looks dull and I have scattered grey hairs all through it. I am not really grey—just some grey hair. I wouldn't mind if I were completely grey—or maybe I would—but I mind this stage even more! Please advise me."

A.—It seems evident to me that you do mind getting grey and will hate having grey hair. So, why not do something about it? I think it is a shame for any woman who minds having grey hair to fall to dye it. This is one age sign we do not have to have.

There are very good vegetable rinses which will hide and blend the scattered grey hairs you now have. When you become greayer you will have to use a real dye. You can experiment with different colors in the vegetable rinses since they can be shampooed out.

Q.—"Are bunions inherited? I have them and so does my father."

A.—I do not think we could say that bunions are inherited but it is true that the bone structure of the foot is inherited. Bunions often come from incorrectly fitted shoes.

Q.—"Is it more stylish to use clear polish than colored polish? I see so many women with it on today."

A.—This is a question of individual taste. Many smart women wear colored polish only for gala occasions in the evening.

Cocoanut Chews

The boys have turned out a few batches of cocoanut chews—tasty cocoanut inside—wrapped in a batch of pulled toffee... it's good. Just right for the weekend. Reg. 80c.

Q.—"I am 40 years old. Am I too old to learn to swim?"

A.—Heavens, no! I would advise you to learn soon—it's enjoyable and good for you."

Q.—"Is there any difference between the number of calories in butter and in margarine?"

A.—No. They are approximately the same.

Q.—"Is it necessary for a housewife to take special exercises to reduce or is her housework enough along with dieting?"

A.—The exercise a woman gets doing the housework will not decrease inches in certain spots as special exercises will.

Q.—"I have been shaving my legs and I notice that the hairs seem stiffer. Shall I stop shaving or what?"

A.—Shaving does leave the hairs with blunt ends when they grow out again. I think you will find that a depilatory is more satisfactory. This melts the ends of the hair.

Dinner Guest

Mrs. Buda Brown, M.L.A., Vancouver, was guest of honor Wednesday evening when the Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce entertained at a small dinner at Harbor House, Ganges. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. M. J. Field, Mrs. W. Hastings, Mrs. A. Wells, George Heinke, Bevis Walters, Norman Mouat and George Young. Mrs. Brown, who came by plane from Vancouver to open the Salt Spring Island fall fair at Fulford, Wednesday afternoon, was welcomed to the island earlier in the day by Mrs. Hastings and members of the fall fair committee. Later she was a guest at a luncheon arranged by members of the Women's Institute.

Mrs. Gummow Guest Speaker

At first meeting of the fall season for the Women's Canadian Club Wednesday at 2.30 p.m. in the Empress Hotel, Mrs. Stella Gummow will be guest speaker; her subject "Adventure in Friendship."

Mrs. Gummow, as superintendent of Women's Institutes in British Columbia, has recently returned from Colombo, Ceylon, where she was a delegate to the Association Countrywomen of the World meeting.

For the past 11 years Mrs. Gummow has lived in Victoria and during that time has travelled to Amsterdam in 1947 and Toronto in 1953 to attend similar conventions. Before coming to this city she lived in the Okanagan where, in 1942, on the death of her husband, then reeve of Peachland, she succeeded to his position.

Her present work makes her especially familiar with British Columbia because she travels constantly, visiting the 243 women's institutes in the 16 different districts of the province. Plans have been made by the club for a fashion show on Sept. 9 and 10 and members will have an opportunity to secure tickets for this affair at the meeting.

It probably will mean the wearing of so-called health shoes. But they're also asking for facial wrinkles and lines caused by fatigue, for an irritable, snappish disposition and for poor posture. These things alone should be enough to warn any woman to have her shoes properly fitted.

She should be sure that they provide the right support and a heel height that's really comfortable for her, one in which she can walk with ease.

SHOES SHOULD SUPPORT

Women who buy their shoes a half size too small, or who insist on wearing very high heels because they feel they're flattering are asking for trouble. Not just foot trouble, though that's bound to come and will be serious enough.

Unbelievably comfortable... very, very light, flexible... made to cradle your foot completely in one smooth unbroken piece of soft upper leather... sold throughout the world for today's new casual look, in town, city or suburb.

Exciting new "go-together" colours.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

SATURDAY, AUGUST 31, 1957

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—While you are swamped by a mountain of work and unable to get off to that anticipated pleasure which beckons so, you are lucky to have just met a delightful person who can brighten your day wonderfully.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—The enjoyment you had anticipated at another point has not come about or is not up to expectations. Nonetheless, day can be brightened by attending to chores, interests there, at home. P.M. invite friends in for dinner.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—There is strife between close ties and outsider, and/or public official. Make this Saturday profitable by study of true conditions and reading current events. Do your marketing early. P.M. be happy and expansive with pals.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—This is one of those terribly blue Saturdays for you after a most difficult, tiring week. Make the best of it by thinking up ways and means to make your life easier, to work less hard and make much more money.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—While efforts to amuse yourself fall dimly and your pockets have holes in them, there still is such innate faith and bigness of thought within you it is possible to rise above it all and start upstaging now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Situation at home has you so despondent you would like to run away somewhere. You simply need a few hours' quiet rest. Think of some place you can go where you can read, relax, think in perfect tune with self.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—You really can accomplish nothing today if you continue to fret and go into tantrums over that personal problem. 'Tis best to contact that happy-go-lucky, charming friend and perk up your spirits. P.M. relax and scribble.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Avoid that person who loves to gossip as if he or she were the plague today or you are in for so much derision over the way you are handling own affairs, problems, you might explode. Help a friend instead and be happy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—It is imperative that you stick to established rules and follow the law to the letter today, and you find backers and well-wishers. Put your great mind to work studying literature, periodicals about own profession.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—An uncomfortable and unhappy feeling will pervade your soul today if you dwell on your seeming limitations or do nothing at all. Early see where you can lend a helping hand and thereby begin living in harmony with self and others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—You are not in the mood to co-operate happily or even bother with friends or business people today, so don't force yourself, but concentrate your efforts on civic, philanthropic works and make this an ideal day just the same.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—This is just one of those days when everyone seems to irk you, no matter how influential or fine they are. So, it is best you simply stick to putting house in order, putting around as you please.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SATURDAY
The interesting child born Saturday is the type who will be born with great big ideas in his or her head, but will be irked at the stumbling blocks in the way in early years. The fact is that the desire to achieve is so great, not sufficient time is taken to work out the minutiae which goes with the idea. See that your progeny completes the smallest task perfectly at first and graduates from there—success certain.

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1957

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—See that you give tangible proof of affection to romantic interest this morning, then you can do some wonderful philanthropic work. You may get into argument over finances later. Be tolerant, fair.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Today you must early dress in finest raiment and attend church services, or make that special call that will raise your lagging spirits. Then get surroundings in perfect condition. P.M. bad for serious discussions. Keep mum.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—You arise feeling perfectly wonderful this morning. A happy smile will make this very infectious and you do a great service to humanity about you. P.M. aspects become cloudy if you do not exercise extreme care and diplomacy.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—As soon as you arise you are inspired as to how to make surroundings and family life more delightful. Act upon ideas immediately. In late afternoon you could dash out for fun, but it might ruin the day. Stay at home.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—This is the day you have awaited to delve into that new Bible, other religious literature invested in, or the religion of higher self-education. P.M. put Leo personality to work and avoid a bad argument that could ensue.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—This Sunday spent in making the necessary repairs and improvements to your wardrobe, real estate, or other possessions will bring you and others greater happiness. P.M. you are apt to want to splurge. Refrain from doing so.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—The morning is ideal for making a deep impression on others with your beautiful spiritual and artistic personality. Then in late afternoon, use fine strength putting-aside in order, or tackle that great masterpiece.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Bright and early in A.M. you can investigate whatever it is that has been puzzling you, but do so wisely and with a gentle manner. Stick to the orthodox. Later you are tempted to let the fur fly. Do not do it!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—As early as possible get together with understanding friend. Drive out somewhere and let your spirits soar, wipe cobwebs from your mind in clean, fresh air. P.M. assist those less fortunate, be outgoing. Learn today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—The morning is best spent in thought concerning how to gain greater prestige, assistance from higher-ups. In afternoon you are tempted to coerce a pal into seeing things your way. Use diplomacy instead and succeed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—A.M. splendid for reading or listening to the stories of those whose lives have been a monument of success and glory. Then begin to emulate the most inspiring life. P.M. stick to resolutions or you will fall back into trouble.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—This morning you have a perfect hunch what steps to take. Discuss your ideas with pertinent persons thoroughly. Tonight you are apt to want to dash out and get started immediately. Don't! Wait until tomorrow.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN SUNDAY
The child born Sunday is the type who will always be reasonable and willing to go along with right ideas and persons in a delightful, happy way. Encourage the child in this respect, or later years may see him or her developing into the overly forceful type, owing to unfavorable circumstances without your aid. A good horoscope for any profession requiring precision and detail, discrimination, and coming up with unusual solutions.

Prince George Asks Ottawa Act On Direct Sale of Natural Gas

FROM CP DISPATCHES

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. — Mayor John R. Morrison left for Ottawa Thursday to ask federal intervention in the distribution of natural gas here.

The mayor will ask that Westcoast Transmission be ordered to sell gas directly to the Prince George Gas Co. Ltd. The Prince George firm has been franchised to distribute natural gas but has been ordered to buy the wholesale product from Inland Natural Gas Ltd.

Mr. Morrison said that if the federal government will not act, the city "will have to seriously consider going into the gas business itself."

If it made such a decision, the city would have to apply to the Board of Transport Commissioners for an order requiring supply from Westcoast at reasonable prices.

NORTHERN FAIR OPENS

Fourth Plunge Victim Saved By Alert Crew

VANCOUVER — Fast work by construction men working at Second Narrows Bridge in Vancouver was credited with saving the fourth victim of a car plunge Thursday which claimed three deaths.

Dead are MacDougall F. Geddes, 53, driver of the late model car; Carl Hakuli, 28, and J. C. Wolley, 48. In good condition in hospital is Alec Morris, 27.

A dozen construction workers plunged up to their armpits into a black eddy of water to remove those trapped inside the car after it shot through the guard rail.

"If it hadn't been for the fast work of those bridge men, no one would have survived," said W. C. Hardie, supervisor on the Williams Creek bridge where all the victims worked.

Thompson, Sir Alexander McKenzie and Capt. George Vancouver.

PATRIOTISM COSTLY

VANCOUVER — It cost a seaman $17 to prove he was a Canadian citizen Thursday. Thomas Wilson, 28, said he was talking to a man who said he doubted he was a citizen. Wilson produced his wallet. The man grabbed it and fled. It contained $17 and Wilson's identification card.

PROFESSOR APPOINTED

'Jesse James' Train Raiders Missed Loot

INGERSOLL, Ont. (BUP) — Postal authorities said Thursday that the loot from Wednesday's train robbery was probably $5,400 in American currency destined for Detroit.

"They missed what they were after and could have made off with a considerably larger loot," a railway investigator said.

Among miscellaneous parcels believed taken by the three men during the Jesse James style holdup was one containing an unknown quantity of jewelry. The value was not believed to have been great as the parcel was not insured.

The loot was taken from nine mailbags ripped open after the bandits held up eight mail cars workers and herded them into a washroom. The robbers boarded the train at Woodstock, Ont., and jumped off here.

Police believe a fourth man awaited them here in a car. A London, Ont., man was picked up for questioning but later released.

UN Council Backs New Term for Dag

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Security Council will meet next week to recommend another five-year term for Dag Hammarskjöld as United Nations Secretary-General.

A unanimous vote is expected both in the 11-nation council and later in the 51-nation General Assembly.

Hammarskjöld's term does not end until next April 10, but delegates have agreed they should act as early as possible.

Hammarskjöld is 52. The job pays $40,000 a year plus allowances of $15,000—all tax-free. But Hammarskjöld does not have to work for a living. He lives simply, for one thing, and he has a private income.

Crash Cause Remains Mystery Says TCA

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's second worst air disaster, as much a mystery today as it was when the plane disappeared last Dec. 9, will probably never be solved.

Norm Donnelly, regional operations manager for Trans-Canada Air Lines, said Thursday it is impossible to find out what caused the crash of a TCA North Star airliner which took the lives of 62 persons.

The plane slammed into the side of 8,000-foot Mount Slesse, 100 miles east of here. For five months the pulverized wreckage of plane and bodies lay hidden beneath clouds and snow.

"The wreckage was so badly scattered and churned up by the moving and melting snow," Mr. Donnelly told reporters, "that it is impossible to backtrack and find out what happened."

"There are very few human remains."

"The general feeling of ourselves, the department of transport, the RCMP and the B.C. mountain rescue group is that there is no need to go into the mountain again."

"We have done everything possible to determine the cause of the crash but we are not in any position to state conclusively what happened.

"It is impossible to identify any of the remains or bring them out."

Mr. Donnelly was reporting on the results of a renewed visit to the crash site during the last few days by D. D. Murphy, regional director for the department of transport who is also the chairman of the inquiry board, and Len MacDonald of Montreal, TCA's project engineer for North Star aircraft.

Youth Fined $200 After Escape Bid

Wayne Gilbert Quesnelle, 48 1/2 Head, was fined $200 and his driver's licence suspended one year when he was sentenced in Saanich police court Thursday for criminally negligent driving.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas ordered him to remain in custody until the fine is paid.

Quesnelle was charged after the car he drove tried to escape a check-up by police and crashed into a tree at Beaver Lake.

Canada's net national public debt has increased since 1939 from just over three billion dollars to just over eleven billion dollars.

German Scientists Confirm Russ ICBM

HAMBURG (Reuters) — German scientists who were forced to work on Soviet missile projects after the war say there is no doubt that the Russians have succeeded in firing an intercontinental missile and landing it in the target area, the newspaper Die Welt says.

The newspaper says the missile could better be described more as a "rocket bomber" than a pure ballistic missile. It was developed from secret German "project A-9" for an intercontinental missile which was to have reached the United States in the last days of Hitler's war.

Instead, the Russians captured the plan and used it "like a Bible."

Die Welt says that only the first stage of the three-stage missile consists of a pure rocket thrust. "The second stage was driven by means of ram jet."

The third stage is the flight of the warhead which, before re-entry into the earth's atmosphere, after the whole missile has flown through space, is blown off.

"According to our information this warhead is fitted with a gliding fin and has an additional cruising motor so that the missile approaching its target does not lose speed in the earth's dense atmosphere."

Macmillan Reply Now in Moscow

MOSCOW (Reuters) — A reply from Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan to a letter of July 20 from Premier Bulganin was delivered here today.

A British Embassy spokesman said the letter would not be published in London until Monday, to give it time to reach Bulganin, believed to be on vacation.

The Associated Press reported in London that Macmillan's letter "delicately sought to end the month-long correspondence initiated by the Soviet premier," and "levelled the general charge that the Soviet government simply was not practising the peace Bulganin has been preaching in world affairs."

There is now one passenger automobile registered in Canada for every five members of the total population.

70,000-Foot Record Set By U.K. Plane

LONDON (AP) — Britain today claimed a world official altitude record for aircraft — 70,000 feet.

The Royal Aero Club said the new mark was set two days ago by a Canberra bomber, powered by two turbo-jets and two rocket motors. It was piloted by Michael Randrup, chief test pilot for D. Napier & Son.

The previous official record was 65,890 feet, set by a Canberra in 1953.

An unofficial altitude record of 126,000 feet was credited to an American Bell X-2 plane, a rocket research ship, in September, 1956.

British aviation experts said the Bell X-2 could not claim the record because it was launched in the air from a mother aircraft.

5-Day Milk Plan

Delivery Cutback Key to Settlement

By JOHN MIKA

Victoria's drawn-out milkmen's dispute is expected to be settled next week.

Basis for agreement between four dairies and 165 members of Local 464, Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees Union will be:

1. Reduction of home deliveries from six-day to five days, skipping Wednesdays and Sundays.

2. Monthly wage boosts of $30 for drivers and $32.50 for plant workers.

Settlement of the dispute is expected Wednesday when union and dairy representatives meet again.

A strike ultimatum authorized by the union membership hangs over the negotiations.

Clarification George Shaw, union business agent, said he had contacted the dairies this morning and arranged for the meeting.

"We still want clarification on four points," he said.

The points involve hours of work for drivers and seniority ratings. Also to be cleaned up is agreement on retroactive pay and other wage details.

"If we can reach agreement on these four points, I think the dispute can be satisfactorily settled," Mr. Shaw said.

90% EFFECTIVE A strike against the milk distributors — Palm Dairies Ltd., Island Farms Co-Operative Association, Shepherd's Dairy Ltd. and Northwestern Creamery Ltd.—would shut off 90 per cent of the city's pasteurized milk supply.

Originally, the union demanded the wage boosts and continuation of the present delivery schedule, as recommended by a conciliation board.

The dairies said they could not afford the wage increases unless deliveries were curtailed to reduce expenses.

Ike to Sign Controversial Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UP)—Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, Jr., made it clear today after a conference with President Eisenhower that the chief executive will sign the Civil Rights Bill.

The historic measure, now in a form designed chiefly to protect the voting rights of southern Negroes, was finally approved 60-15 by Congress Thursday night—the first such legislation in 82 years.

Though it fell far short of what Eisenhower had requested, Brownell said on leaving the White House: "We believe it will go a long way to carry out the promise made to citizens in the Constitution that every man is entitled to exercise his right to vote, regardless of race, creed or color."

Southern Democrats opposed the bill to the last but only one—Sen. Strom Thurmond—filibustered it. Thurmond talked, with few interruptions, for 24 hours and 18 minutes.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.), leader of the southern anti-civil rights bloc, predicted in a Senate speech today that Brownell, at the bidding of Vice-President Richard M. Nixon and the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, will use the legislation to give the south "difficult times."

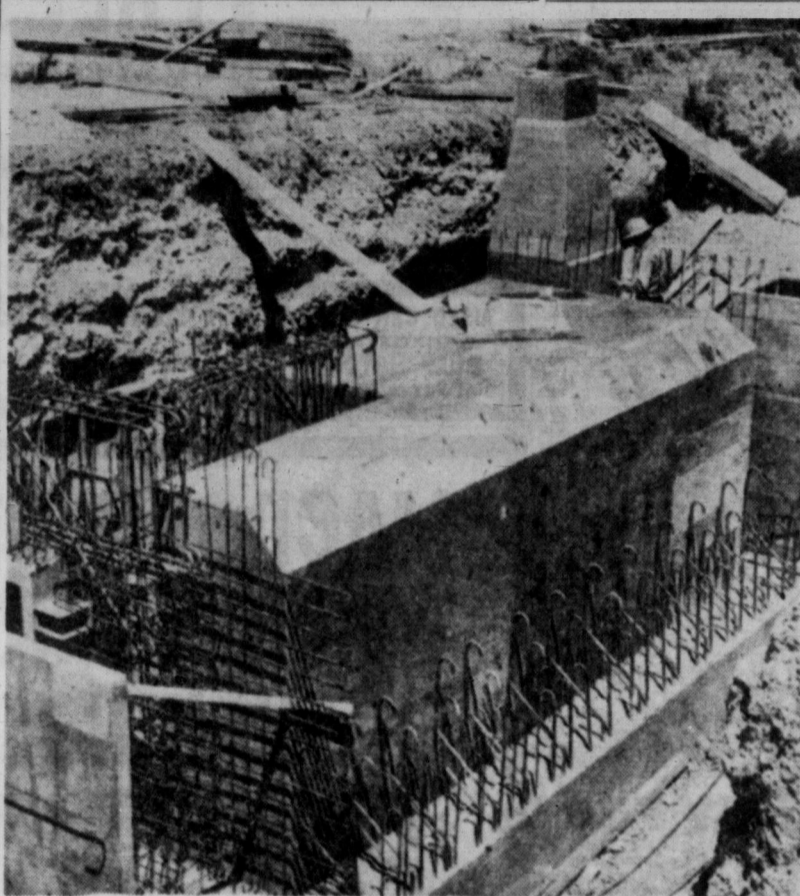

JOHN D. HOPES REDS REVERSE

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker has expressed the hope Russia will have second thoughts about her rejection of a Western disarmament proposal that would have opened East-West skies for inspection purposes.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he regrets Russia has "seen fit to disallow" the proposals.

IKE GIVEN AID BILL LOPPED OF $1 BILLION

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives today passed and sent to President Eisenhower a $3,435,810,000 foreign aid money bill. This is $1,000,000,000 below Eisenhower's original request. The Senate passed the measure Thursday night.

Junior High System Blamed

(Part of the juvenile problem in Victoria is created by young people who drop out of school early and find themselves insufficiently equipped to hold jobs. This is what Times reporter Pete Loudon discovered when he made a survey of the various agencies dealing with the problem. In a survey of four agencies he has summed up his findings. This is his concluding article.)

By PETE LOUDON

The junior high school system is under fire as a major cause of youngsters leaving school with educations inadequate for employment.

The system, it is felt, makes children grow up too fast and fans their desire to get out on their own.

Change back to the two-level public school-high school plan, say some who are studying the growing problem of juvenile unemployment.

Two who lean to this view are Victoria MP A. deB McPhillips and the director of family and children's service, David Woodsworth.

All employers, national employment officials, armed forces recruiters, youth group organizers, social workers and educators interviewed on the problem of aiding out-of-work juveniles say, "Keep them in school."

Greater Victoria school board has issued figures outlining the shocking tendency for youngsters to pull out long before they obtain necessary academic requirements.

In 1946 there were 809 youngsters in Grade 6. This age group remained numerically the same in Grade 7, dropped to 780 in Grade 8, 776 in Grade 9, 664 in Grade 10, 531 in Grade 11 and 391 in Grade 12.

At Grade 7, in junior high, the youngster is more on his own than ever he was under the previous school system. First year junior high takes on the importance which used to be associated with first year high school.

Boys who have worn blue jeans through all their primary years suddenly want fine worsteds. The awareness of approaching adulthood comes with a wallop. There are class dances, organized student activities and booster clubs, unheard of in Grade 7 under the old system.

More important, the high school system of giving out-line instruction but leaving the probing and studying to the student's own initiative, is in force. Junior high students are warned teachers will no more take them by the hand, from here on in, they are on their own.

Trade Minister States His Views

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada "would seriously consider selling wheat to Red China" but has not as yet been approached by China on the matter, Trade Minister Gordon Churchill said today.

Churchill was commenting on reports currently circulating in Washington that Russia refused to sell wheat to Red China, claiming that it had none to spare. The reports said that Red China is now considering buying wheat from Canada.

"This is news to me," Churchill said when asked about the reports after leaving a cabinet meeting. "My department has had no word about it."

"I can't see any difference between selling wheat to Red China than selling to Russia or their Iron Curtain countries—if there is a difference, I would like to hear it."

Churchill said he was surprised to hear Russia would have no wheat to spare for China. "We are just in the process of delivering about 15 million bushels of wheat to Russia that it bought from us last year," Churchill said. "But the Russians told us that they really didn't need it."

Port Closing Still a Mystery

Churchill pointed out that in the past Canada has done a small amount of trading with Red China—but never in wheat. "However, a wheat market in China would certainly be very interesting to us here," he added.

In Vancouver there is some speculation in grain circles that closing of the Pacific port of Vladivostok may be responsible for non-arrival of the Russian grain fleet here.

The Soviets closed the Bay of Vladivostok to foreign shipping last month and banned foreign planes from flying over it.

Western diplomatic sources believe Russia might turn the area into a vast nuclear research centre and launching site for intercontinental missiles.

Russian news releases only say the port was closed to protect fishing and boundary rights.

Some grain exporters in Vancouver say the Russian wheat will not move out until Vladivostok reopens. They argue that that seaport has much better unloading facilities than the alternate and newer port of Nakhodka, 50 miles to the southeast.

Under the purchase agreement the Russians are to take their grain order during the calendar year which still gives them more than four months.

Monorails for Cities Seen in Gordon Study

OTTAWA (CP)—Major technological advances in Canadian transportation over the next 25 years are predicted in a study issued today by the Gordon royal commission on Canada's economic prospects.

"It is doubtful whether any new forms of transportation will evolve," the study said, "but much greater efficiency from those now in operation is a certainty."

For public transportation in cities, the elevated monorail could very well provide a radical solution to the problems of rapid mass transit. It cost much less than subways, and would have the advantage of tapping areas now considered uneconomical.

For highways, the study says future developments probably will be in the field of improvement of their quality rather than their extension, except for construction of new roads in the Canadian North.

Of the St. Lawrence Seaway, it says the waterway should bring substantial transportation savings, though these could not be estimated accurately now.

BOON TO WEST While the West stood to benefit generally from the seaway, Vancouver might lose some of its trade as a distribution centre to Winnipeg.

In discussing railway freight rates, the study expresses some doubt as to whether they should continue to be used as instruments of national policy.

It says that the present government-directed policy of rate equalization as between regions means that losses incurred in some regions because of higher operating costs would have to be made up elsewhere.

ENJOY YOUR HOLIDAY BY REMAINING ALIVE

Pedestrians, please, over the holiday weekend: Walk facing traffic where there is no sidewalk. After dusk, wear some light-colored clothing. Never duck out from behind or in front of stopped vehicles.

Don't insist on your "pedestrian right-of-way." This advice is from B.C. Safety Council chairman George Dobell, who adds, "use your eyes, then your head, and last of all use your feet. That way you can be sure your holiday will end without tragedy."

Malayan Drums Beat 'Freedom'

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (Saturday)—(Reuters)—Ceremonial drums, in Moslem mosques throughout Malaya early this morning throbbed with the news that Malaya was independent.

In towns and villages, Chinese, Indians and Malays joined in shouting "merdeka"—freedom.

Friday night the Union Jack was lowered and God Save the Queen played to mark the end of 170 years of British rule and protection in the nine princely states of the federation of Malaya.

When the last stroke of midnight sounded Malaya had become the 10th independent member of the British Commonwealth—following Ghana, which gained independence this spring.

As the Union Jack was lowered ceremonial bonfires were lit on hilltops along the 1,500-mile coastline and thousands of Moslems prayed toward Mecca for their country's future.

DUKE HANDS OVER The new Malayan national anthem, Negaraku (My Country), set to the tune of a popular romantic Malay song, rang out and Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman addressed the nation.

Formal transfer of sovereignty was set for 8 a.m. local time when the Duke of Gloucester, as representative of Queen Elizabeth, hands over an instrument of transfer of sovereignty to Tunku Abdul Rahman.

In a recorded broadcast British Prime Minister Macmillan told the Malayan people that by choosing to remain in the British Commonwealth, they were helping to strengthen the greatest force for peace in the world today.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said in a recorded broadcast that he hopes the opportunities for mutual trade which existed between Canada and Malaya will be promoted and increased.

LOSS BOTH WAYS But he added that "both sides know that modern war would be a bad net loss all around, so they have that common interest between them."

Asked whether he thought the Soviet Union was negotiating in "good faith," Stassen said that was not the word he would use because "they are negotiating from the point of view of their interests."

Stassen left London Thursday after presenting a complete Western plan for a first-step disarmament agreement. American hopes for solid progress in the London talks had been built on some kind of positive Soviet reaction to this Western initiative.

But Valerian Zorin, the Soviet negotiator, promptly denounced the Stassen offering as containing nothing of value.

VICTORIAN TELLS OF MANCHURIAN DISASTER

150,000 Died in 1932 Floods

It was exactly 25 years ago to the month that 150,000 persons died from raging flood waters and subsequent cholera in Harbin, Manchuria, China.

The flood threat is mounting there today, and hundreds of thousands of peasants, students and soldiers are fighting savagely to prevent a re-occurrence.

Arthur Golding, 1035 Victoria Avenue, was in Harbin when the last disaster overwhelmed the area.

He told it here today.

80,000 DIED. "The sluggish Sungari river rose 10 inches a day and the flood lasted six weeks. Cholera struck because of unsanitary water and the disrupted living of many thousands. At least 80,000 died from this alone. It was frightful."

Population of Harbin at that time was about 1,000,000 Chinese, 85,000 Russians, and a few westerners. Mr. Golding had lived there 12 years as an official with a British tobacco company.

The city was divided into three main areas, Fudidian, where the native population lived and where most deaths occurred. Poistan, the commercial and shop area, and Newtown, the administrative area.

Newton, where Mr. Golding lived, was high up and not affected by flood waters. But the native area was below the river level, protected, so they thought, by dams.

"The dams went out on a Sunday. Just burst. Thousands never had an earthly!" The Sungari River has long tributaries. In 1932 the entire area had heavy winter snows, and a very wet summer. Disaster resulted when the river filled with silt.

"I went down the main street—Kitsaikaya Street—in a motor boat."

Harbin is about 300 miles from the Russian border, accounting for the high Russian population.

"The Russians did all they could, the doctors, the people themselves. But the Chinese authorities couldn't handle any thing. They were riddled with bandits. You can't fight things like flood and cholera in such circumstances."

Cholera lasted three months. Coffins lined the road, many filled with persons not yet dead. Disinfectant was poured into ruts in roads. Money that changed hands was dipped.

"It was absolutely awful."

Mr. Golding, who lived 30 years in China, is a native of England and has lived here three years after leaving his company in Hong Kong.

This was main street scene in Harbin, Manchuria, during terrible floods of 1932, again threatened today as thousands battle swollen Sungari River.

Grade 9, there is a tendency to put childhood away and emulate adults—make "adult decisions."

After three years of junior high, often with full growth upon them, the step to the world outside of school seems easy. Curiously, the youngster with least chance of assistance from his parents is first to go.

School figures show those high schools in most prosperous districts possess greater "holding power" than those districts where the less wealthy live.

They show that in general, out of every 100 students, 14 drop out before Grade 10, 30 drop out before Grade 11 and 44 drop out before Grade 12. And Grade 12 education is what employers want—at least grade 12.

Mr. McPhillips and Mr. Woodsworth suspect the junior high system makes children grow up too fast.

Under the old system a pupil had eight years of forced learning. Instruction and exercises were carried out in class. Extra-mural activities were at a minimum.

At Grade 9, high school opened new doors. There were new freedoms and responsibility for success passed more to the student, less to the teacher. It was up to the student to carry his learning beyond the classroom, to the library and the home-work session.

ADULT TREATMENT
Grade 9 was the start of extra-mural activities and the glamor of school dances, sports. For the first time teachers began to treat pupils in a more adult fashion. It was an attractive change from the lower grades.

Now this takes place at Grade 7. By the time junior high is completed, the thrill of reaching the level of secondary education is faded. The anxiety to "get out in the world" has taken over with many youngsters.

School boards have countered with a rich program of night school activities and credits may be obtained by the pupil with gumption enough to go back. There is general agreement juvenile employment can be reduced if they will take on more education. But once out of the fold, its hard to shepherd them back.

Mr. McPhillips has a further suggestion. He favors expansion of the national employment bureau system of registering job openings for youngsters.

He says, when he goes to Ottawa he will enquire into setting up of on-the-job training systems by federal departments.

Apprentices could be taken on by the hydrographic survey service, signed on vessels tending lighthouses. They could be recruited by the department of mines and technical surveys, dominion experimental farms and forestry departments.

They wouldn't replace trained men, but would be accessory workers who might not produce the worth of their pay cheques at first. But unemployed they are costly, too, and the system could be regarded in the same light as other subsidized education programs.

Mr. Woodsworth doesn't fully agree with a system of forestry or agricultural camps. This could become a temporary haven rather than a school, he feels.

MORE APPRENTICES
His solution would be for industry to expand the apprenticeship system in trades such as masonry, painting, masonry, blacksmithing and tin-smithing, moulding and pattern-making.

Many trades which lack the strict apprenticeship system of machinists and printers, haven't changed much in procedures over the years. These wouldn't require such a great amount of pre-education as machine and electrical vocations, he thinks.

And he thinks the services should take another look at their policy of restricting applicants who have a juvenile record in the courts. Army, navy or air force discipline is sorely needed by many of these boys and would develop them as better citizens.

FUNERAL NOTICE
An Emergent Communication of Britannia Lodge No. 13, A.E. & M.M. ## Same-for-All Rate Set For Business Tax Plan

Preliminary passage was given a city council by-law on Thursday which will establish business tax on the same basis for all classes of commerce.

Every store will have the same tax rate applied to an assessed rental value—probably 7 per cent.

Decision was reached after a two-hour wrangle over proposals of Ald. J. D. Smith that a different percentage tax should be applied to businesses, depending on their size.

He felt instead of a 7 per cent tax, firms such as banks and breweries should pay 10 per cent and small grocers, barbers, etc., 2 or 3 per cent.

PRESSURE FEARED

This classification system is approved in the B.C. Municipal Act, but, according to experts, no firm basis for the classification can be found and council would be pressured constantly by business groups which felt their classification was too high.

Ald. Hugh Ramsay warned the by-law must be passed promptly for Dec. 15 tax collection. Council has budgeted for a business tax-trade licence revenue this year of $460,000.

Trade licences are already paid and will be credited against charges for business tax, but these amount to only about $300,000.

The business tax must be collected or the city will be short of necessary funds before the end of the year.

TWO-MILL LEVY

"If we don't get a move on we'll have to go back to the property owners with a two-mill levy," Ald. Ramsay warned.

Comptroller D. A. Young pointed out the alternatives would be for the city to default on debenture payments or the employee payroll.

City manager C. G. Wyatt is preparing a list showing how the new tax will affect a cross-section of local business.

There was some indication, if the list shows the same-tax-for-all system causes inequalities, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow might swing in with Ald. Smith in a renewed fight for classification.

The council has still to decide whether the trade licence system will continue with merchants required to pay either business tax or trade licence, whichever is the greater.

This system, employed in some mainland cities, is authorized under the Municipal Act. A special tax on beer, wine and liquor outlets is also still under study.

TRANS-CANADA ROAD DISGRACE—GAGLARDI

VANCOUVER (CP)—Highways Minister Gagliardi of British Columbia Thursday night described the Trans-Canada Highway "a disgrace to the whole nation."

He told a provincial by-election meeting in nearby Burnaby he was disappointed that Works Minister Howard Green had found no reason to change the former Liberal government's policy on the highway. He said Mr. Green should take another look at the project.

Mr. Gagliardi said he was speaking for the whole country in asking for a new plan for the highway. He said B.C. will complete its own portion by 1960, according to schedule.

Mrs. Guy Temple Dies in Vancouver

Mrs. Guy T. Temple, last surviving member of a Victoria West family which moved here from the Maritimes before the turn of the century, died in University Hospital, Vancouver, Thursday night after a lengthy illness.

She was the former Mary Monteith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Monteith, whose family residence was on Maitland Street.

Mrs. Temple was pre-deceased by two brothers and three sisters—Alex (Sandy), Harry Sarah (Mrs. Robert Jenkinson), Cassie, and Agnes (Mrs. A. E. Roberts).

All were born in Nova Scotia, where the senior Monteith emigrated from Ireland.

Mrs. Temple was the widow of a well-known Victoria tugboat company executive and member of Royal Victoria Yacht Club. They moved from Victoria to Vancouver in the early 1930s.

Funeral services will be held at Simmons & McBride, Vancouver, at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Special Rite To Welcome New Citizens

A special ceremony for new Canadians who take their citizenship oaths next July 1 has been arranged by the B.C. Centennial Committee.

The day has been officially designated as "Citizenship Day" by the Committee.

Immigrants will be given a short history of British Columbia and special centennial name cards inserted in the Bibles they receive.

After taking their citizenship oaths, they will witness a pageant portraying the history of citizenship legislation in the province.

The Citizenship Day programs are being planned by the Ethnic Groups Sub-Committee, headed by Mrs. Pearl Steen of Vancouver.

The sub-committee has prepared an Ethnic Group Bibliography tracing the history of racial groups in B.C. and telling of their contributions to the industrial and cultural development of the province.

Grain Cash Delay Hits Farmers

WINNIPEG (BUP)—General farmers this fall if parliament agrees to a Progressive Conservative government proposal to provide producers with cash advances for farm-stored wheat. Mr. Diefenbaker gave no details of his cash advances proposal nor did he state specifically to what grains it will apply. But Mr. Churchill said press ahead with his election later the government is thinking promise to grant farmers advance payments on the grain they find it difficult to sell.

James Paterson, president of the Manitoba Farmers' Union and chairman of the Interprovincial Farm Union Council, a group which recently presented a brief to Prime Minister John Diefenbaker urging cash advances, said "we are pleased to see that the government has committed itself firmly to bring about legislation to implement cash advances."

But he added the measure . . . "could be authorized without waiting for parliament, and under a practical system could be administered with a minimum of administration and red tape."

OTTAWA (CP)—Huge amounts of federal cash may roll out to hard-pressed Prairie farmers this fall.

Kippers and Cancer

LONDON—If it were your job to administer justice, what would you do in the case of two boys aged 7 and 6 who took a sleeping baby from a pram and caused its death from a fractured skull?

Is it murder? Would you keep them in custody? Or would you release them and let them go about their daily lives again?

Here's the postscript to the case up in Hull that I told you about a few weeks ago. At first the police had said the boys were outside the law because they were too young. But the concern of their schoolteacher, parents of other children at their school and parents in the neighborhood where they lived was such that the matter could not be overlooked.

They had to be brought to some sort of justice. So, they were put in a remand home while the Hull Juvenile Court considered the case. Verdict of the court chairman: "We will let you go back to your mummy."

The boys have been returned to their 27-year-old mother and every three months a probation officer will make a report on their progress.

DOES THE INTENTION of the Minister of Transport to raise the penalty for smoking in a railway non-smoker from $5.60 to $14

stem from the fact that he is bringing this in line with other rising prices? Not so, because as humorist Osbert Lancaster says: "We must be grateful that we can still spit at the old rates." Expectation has always carried the same $5.60 fine.

Reason for making illegal smoking more costly is the current cancer scare. And it's not only penetrating into the non-smoking compartments. Some doctors here are now saying that "there is a possibility that smoked fish may cause cancer of the stomach."

Bad enough to be scared into trying to give up smoking, it will be really tough on the English if the government asks them to give up their beloved kippers.

THE NAWAB OF PATAUDI — That's a mouthful of a name, but this Indian potentate was familiar to everybody living in England between the wars, when he was one of this country's leading cricket stars.

Now the Nawab, a 16-year-old schoolboy at Winchester College, is showing definite signs of following in father's footsteps. Smacking up centuries for his school, they say that not many years from now the exotic-sounding name is likely to be featuring in English cricket scoreboards again.

YOUR HEALTH

Treatment of Gout

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

Gout is characterized by acute, sudden and often very painful attacks of arthritis, commonly in one joint, and usually in the big toe joint. Following an attack, the patient may be normal for quite a while, and then suddenly he will get another attack. The trouble is usually due to a hereditary difficulty the body has in handling certain substances which end up as uric acid. The disease occurs almost always in men, and rarely in women. It can occur in men who drink more alcohol than they need, and in men who eat much more than they should. But there is not only the "rich-man's champagne gout," there is a "poor-man's gout."

Dr. Alvarez

Unfortunately, many years ago the diagnosis was usually missed because physicians had not been trained to think of gout; we thought it was a very rare disease, when actually arthritis experts now see a lot of it. Sometimes the doctor can diagnose gout in a minute by noticing little white masses of uric acid crystals under the skin of an ear or an elbow, or he can see peculiar spots in an x-ray film. Any man of middle age who wakes around 2 in the morning with an agonizing pain and red swelling in one big toe joint can know he almost certainly has the gout.

In cases of doubt, the doctor will get a laboratory worker to measure the amount of uric acid in the blood. In cases of gout this reading is usually elevated and somewhere between five and nine mg. Instead of the usual one to four mg. Sometimes these people have some albumin in the urine, or stones in a kidney, or buritis of a shoulder joint. In one in five cases the patient has a relative who suffers with gout.

MAY FOLLOW COLD

An attack is likely to come when the patient has been ill with a bad cold, or when he hasn't eaten much for several days, or when he has exercised too much, or when he has been on a long ride on a train or plane, or has had an operation, or has been confined in bed for a while. He may get an attack after eating and drinking too much, or taking a mercurial diuretic which makes the kidneys function more actively, or after taking some liver extract or ACTH.

Often, a spell will quiet down under the influence of a drug such as phenylbutazone or colchicine or probenecid or one of the cortisone-like substances.

The patient suffering from gout will do well to live on a just-adequate diet, perhaps relatively high in protein and low in starches and sugar. He must not eat liver, kidneys or sweetbreads which are full of the substances which in the body turn into uric acid. Some experts warn, also, against meat extracts, gravies, chocolate, cola drinks, beer, wine, ale, asparagus, peas and dried beans.

THE SPIRIT OF SCIENCE

There is still need today for explaining to laymen why many scientists take vows of poverty, much as a priest does, and plan to spend their days in a laboratory searching for the answers to certain questions. Often these researchers will seem to be of little if any use, but some day, all of a sudden, some discovery will turn out to be of enormous value.

For instance, Dr. Fleming in his little pathological laboratory became curious as to why bacteria did not grow in the zone immediately surrounding a colony of a certain mold. Every housewife has seen such colonies on the top of some of her jars of jam. Fleming realized that there must be some substance seeping out from the edges of the colony to keep bacteria from growing. All bacteriologists must have noticed this phenomenon a thousand times, but he was the only one to see that there might be a chemical there, which, if isolated and injected into the body of a man, might save his life from severe infection. He was the only man to do something about it. Eventually, penicillin was found. It was purified by Dr. Florey and others, and by now, it must have saved a million lives.

As I walk through public parks it saddens me to see that most of the statues on pedestals are of men whose only virtue was that they were experts in the art of killing their fellows. Only rarely do I find a statue of a man like Pasteur, who probably did more for humanity than did any other man who ever lived. No one erects a memorial to Dr. William G. Morton who did most to give us the great boon of anesthesia in surgery, or to Lord Lister, who made modern surgery possible, or to Dr. Domagk, who found the sulfa drugs. We men and women show little gratitude to our greatest benefactors.

ABOUT TOBACCO SMOKE FROM OTHERS

Many people have a gift for thinking up worries. It never would have occurred to me to worry about inhaling a little smoke from the cigar of the man sitting next to me at a dinner party, but some people are now worrying about this. I am sure the small amount of smoke they will get in this way will never harm them!

RUSS TO RULE WORLD
ECONOMY—ALTRINCHAM

OXFORD, Eng. (AP)—Lord Altrincham, who angered many Britons earlier this month with a personal attack on the Queen predicted Thursday that Russia will win economic control of the world within 50 years.

"I feel desperately anxious when I look at Russia's program of capital investment," Altrincham told delegates to a meeting of the Liberal International.

"Long-term thinking such as they are free to indulge in will mean that they will win economic control of the world within 50 years." He did not elaborate.

HOME GARDEN

Tomatoes Progress
Despite Dull Days

Tomatoes have been producing and ripening this summer with us to just about their average in spite of a somewhat dull season.

Seed was sown on March 15, seedlings pricked out into vernal beds, and the plants set out in the open garden on June 8. They could have been out by May 15, but the ground was not ready. The one variety Meteor was set out on May 18.

Our location is noted for its low night temperature readings. Conversely, we get higher day readings than areas which are nearer the water, and the soil remains warmer over a longer period at night.

These four tomato varieties are all of the bush or non-staking, non-pruning types, and are now producing quantities of ripe fruit. We do not pick any before fully ripened, as so much of the fine flavor and quality is lost by indoor ripening.

SMALL BUT GOOD

We picked the first fully ripe tomatoes during the last week of July, from the bush variety Stokesalaska. The fruit has been small, but is high in flavor. It would be perfect for packing into lunch boxes to eat whole, like grapes.

The next variety to ripen was Puck, a larger fruit, of solid texture and fairly mild flavor. Of stocky habit, the plants

The Facts Behind
Filter-tip Cigarettes

Scientists say it is the amount of tar and nicotine in cigarette smoke which has a serious effect on health.

But when you buy a package of filter cigarettes there is no way of telling the degree, to which these impurities will be filtered out. Now, the latest laboratory findings, in September Reader's Digest, give you this information about 12 popular Canadian brands.

This article makes exciting—and hopeful—reading. One filter-tip cigarette now offers a 30% improvement in tar filtration... and 40% less nicotine in the smoke! Other improved filters are on the way.

This Reader's Digest article will be talked about from Coast to Coast. Don't miss it!

Also in the September Reader's Digest, 35 other articles of lasting interest... the best from leading magazines, newspapers and books... condensed to save your time. At your newsstand today.

Airsickness

Thing of Past
By Radar's Aid?

VANCOUVER — Airborne weather radar, the newest method for the prevention of airsickness, will be in use on all Canadian Pacific Airlines international routes by Sept. 1, it was announced here today.

Radar-equipped Super DC-6B Empress airliners will first see service on the company's entire 33,000-mile overseas route pattern when the Empress of Lisbon, one of four new aircraft with the radar installed, crosses the South Pacific from Vancouver to the Antipodes.

Airborne weather radar makes airsickness a thing of the past by providing for the smooth and comfortable operation of aircraft in all weather conditions.

Thunderheads and other areas of turbulence are graphically pictured on a screen resembling a small television set in the cockpit. Thus the pilot can plot a smooth course through all kinds of weather even while flying in pitch darkness.

All new CPA aircraft will be equipped with the new radar.

Jobs for 10 Million
Predicted by 1980

OTTAWA (CP)—The swelling army of Canadian employed in providing services for their fellow citizens may be more than doubled in the next quarter-century.

In a special study for the Gordon economic commission, the Bank of Montreal estimated the Canadian labor force may double to about 10,000,000 by 1980 with those employed in service industries increasing to 4,675,000 from 1,931,000 in 1951.

CONTINUAL RISE

On the basis of trends, the bank predicted the proportion of the labor force employed in providing services may rise to 55 per cent by 1980 from 46 in 1951 and 20 in 1981, assuming a continued increase in the real income of Canadians.

The proportion in production industries would remain unchanged at about 35 per cent while that in agriculture would drop to 10 per cent from 19.

Analyzing the various service industries, the Bank of Montreal disputed the widely held view that the days of wholesaling in Canada are numbered. Its study indicated that the wholesale industry would grow in importance.

The bank found retail profit margins also have been squeezed though this was offset to some extent by higher sales for each store and employee.

OLD AND NEW IN FIRE FIGHTING

Impressive three-quarter-hour display of pumper and fire boats was held Thursday at transport department wharf in conjunction with convention of B.C. fire chiefs which ends here today. Equipment from city, municipalities and adjoining communities took part, as well as two fire boats of Island Tug & Barge. Island Tug vessels patrol harbor on voluntary basis, and as city Fire Chief Frank Briers said "often put out fires on boats before we hear about them." Old horse-drawn pumper on left points up progress made in fire fighting. Hundreds of spectators enjoyed the watery show. (Times Photo by Irving Strickland.)

YOUTH TIRES OF WALKING DOG, DEMANDS RIDE WITH STRANGER

A teenager, apparently tired of walking his dog, hailed a car pulling away from a stop sign on Springfield Thursday afternoon and demanded that the driver, Mrs. C. E. Adams, 255 West Maddock, take him home. When she refused, he scooped up the dog and plumped himself in the car, Mrs. Adams said. "So I turned off the motor, grabbed the keys and ran to the nearest house." "The boy waited further down the block for me and when I drove off, he stepped into the middle of the road and asked me why I didn't drop dead," she said. "I've never seen him before in my life." Mrs. Adams phoned city police from her home, reporting the incident.

Mr. Darling called city police and the woman was taken to hospital by police ambulance.

Three-Year Term For Store Raid

Robert Watson was sentenced in city police court today to three years in the B.C. penitentiary for breaking and entering. Watson broke into premises owned by Thomas Atkinson, 617 Vancouver, Wednesday at 10 a.m.

He was found hiding in the office by Const. Charles Hitchen. Two windows in the office had been smashed.

City council recently confirmed an earlier decision to operate a "patch-and-pray" maintenance system for a few years until a new system could be afforded.

Civil Defence Evacuation Plans Not Outmoded by Missile Threat

Civil defence evacuation plans are not outmoded by Russia's announcement earlier this week that it had successfully tested a long-range ballistic missile.

Gen. G. R. S. Stein, provincial CD co-ordinator, said today there were several reasons for not scrapping the plans. "First, so far as Canada is concerned, the primary targets on the North American continent would be in the United States," he said.

"Firing of the first salvoes presumably would give Canada plenty of warnings and evacuation could be carried out." Secondly, it will be "some time" before Russia could develop and build sufficient ballistic missiles for a knock-out blow. Launching sites would have to be constructed and these would be detected easily.

Death Car Driver, 15, Sent To Assize Court for Trial

Fifteen-year-old driver of a death car, Barry Jackson, 2604 Roseberry, today was committed for trial at the fall Assizes on a manslaughter charge. Magistrate A. I. Thomas conducted the final session in city police court of a preliminary hearing into a stolen car chase that ended in death for one youth July 26.

Gunnar Stebeck, 13, of 1430 Pembroke, died almost immediately when the car jumped a 50-foot incline from Dallas Road to Stoney Beach. Two other youths, James Lott, 13, and Ray Murdoch, 13, have regained consciousness at St. Joseph's Hospital. Their condition is reported to be improving.

CLOSE TO 100 M.P.H.

Testimony was heard today from Cpl. Leslie Ledson, Saanich police, who chased the stolen car at about 4 a.m. through the city and was first to arrive at the crash scene.

His car reached a speed of "very close to 100 miles an hour," he said, and was not gaining on the stolen station wagon as it sped through the city.

"As we got down towards Dallas Road I eased the throttle," he said.

The stolen station wagon continued straight ahead over the boulevard and disappeared from sight in a screen of dust. Cpl. Ledson stopped the police car and with his companion, Const. E. C. Owens, attempted to find which way the car had gone.

Arena Closed For Two Weeks Starting Oct. 1

Memorial Arena will be closed to all activities for two weeks starting Oct. 1 while annual overhaul of the freezing system is carried out.

City engineer J. C. Garnett said work is actually starting now on repair of numerous leaks in the floor freezing pipes, but work will not be extensive enough to halt arena activities, until October.

City council recently confirmed an earlier decision to operate a "patch-and-pray" maintenance system for a few years until a new system could be afforded.

"I didn't want to be caught in a stolen car."

At Dallas Road, the youth told the constable, he had intended to turn into a driveway "and make a run for it."

Sister Mary Dositheus, St. Joseph's Hospital, testified she had given Jackson a hypodermic of morphine at about 4.50 a.m., one-half hour after he had been admitted.

He was able to talk and answer questions, but was in a state of slight shock, she said. The youth suffered swelling on the right side of his head, but there were no signs of brain damage, Dr. J. W. E. Hunt told the court.

'HE WAS DEAD'

"Then I went to the rear and found another youth (Stebeck) lying face down in the gravel. As far as I could see, he was dead."

"I then went to the front of the car and found two other boys lying on the gravel where they had slid under a burnt log."

City police, called by Const. Owens, arrived with stretchers at that time and took the boys to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Questioned later that day Jackson admitted he had been driving the stolen car, Const. Walter Calwell, city police, told the magistrate.

He reported the youth had said "I was doing about 100 miles an hour. I applied my brakes but it didn't seem to have any effect."

Const. Calwell stated the boy had realized a police car was chasing the station wagon but

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Harry Wallace Small, 1176 Toimie, $35 and driving restricted to business purposes only, for careless driving.

Everard Hunter Campbell, 3648 Crestview, total of $35 in fines for failing to display proper registration plates.

Clifford Paul Knight, 355 Walter, $25 for driving without a licence.

John O'Connor, 80 Mt. View Avenue, $20 for exceeding speed limit in 30-mile-an-hour zone.

PRE-MARITAL COUNSELLING PROGRAM

Fewer Misses For Mr. and Mrs.

By DINAH KERR

Ministers develop a sixth sense that tells them whether or not a marriage will "click," Dr. F. E. H. James of Metropolitan United Church says.

But often when they sense marital disaster, it's too late to do anything about it. "The tragedy is that young couples usually have all their plans made before they come for a talk with the minister,"

Family Life Committees for Each Church

Family life committees will be set up in each church of Victoria presbytery to plan the counselling program, Dr. James said. Tentative plans include a series of 10 lectures by doctors, psychologists, ministers and bank managers, plus film strips on marriage.

Ministers, however, will continue to give individual counsel to the prospective Mr. and Mrs.

Dr. James uses a pre-marital questionnaire as a conversation guide. The first question he asks is "How long have you known each other?"

No Marryin' Sams—Must Be Above-Board

Ministers are not Marryin' Sams, he explained. "This is a Christian church and a marriage ceremony must be above-board."

Dr. James has officiated at almost 4,000 marriages in his 31-year ministry, but he also has refused to read the wedding vows on "several occasions."

Late one night a man came to Dr. James' parish door in Alberta with a pregnant girl and asked him to marry them. Three weeks earlier the man had driven his wife

FUEL OIL PRICES CUT BY HALF-CENT GALLON

The price of fuel oil has been cut one-half cent a gallon here to 22.3 cents, plus half a cent sales tax. Affected are furnace, stove and diesel fuels and kerosene.

An oil company spokesman said the reductions were made "for competitive reasons."

The reduction means a saving to the average home owner using oil of about $3 a year. The cut-back was made effective Tuesday.

Holidayers Ignore Threat Of Bad Weather

Bad weather is expected to mar the Labor Day weekend, last extended holiday weekend of the summer.

With transportation facilities booked to the top, and a full sports program slated, storm clouds are moving in from the Pacific Ocean.

"An active storm centre 900 miles west of here will give increasing cloud tonight, cloudy skies Saturday, and the possibility of rain Saturday afternoon or evening," said weatherman William Mackie.

"If the weather follows a usual pattern, then Sunday will give us a mixture of cloud and sunshine, and there is the chance that Monday might be a 'reasonable' day," he said.

MODERATE

Temperatures will be in the moderate range, he said, with a maximum of only 65 degrees expected Saturday.

Travel men will have every possible bus, boat and aircraft in operation Saturday and Monday to move the thousands who plan a trip for the last long holiday weekend of the summer.

Trans-Canada Air Lines will run its 21 regular flights and six extra between here and Vancouver Saturday, and 20 regular and five extra Monday. There will be five regular flights and two extra between here and Seattle Saturday and Monday.

Several CPR sailings from here and Nanaimo are sold out, and officials say reservations are a "must."

"We have never seen a weekend that promises to be busier," said Harry Newton, CPR passenger agent. "There still is space available on the boats, but we would advise everyone traveling to have confirmed reservations before leaving home."

Vancouver Island Coach Lines expects a heavy rush of traffic. It will operate on regular schedules, but will handle overflow crowds with extra sections on each trip. "We have never left anyone behind yet," a company spokesman said. Extra buses will operate between here and Sidney Monday to take care of crowds attending the Saanich fair.

The fair will operate Saturday and Monday, with the western riding events being one of the major attractions Saturday, and English saddle classes in the upper ring a feature of the Monday program.

60 SWIMMERS

Elk Lake-Beaver Lake swim, with close to 60 swimmers registered, will start at 10 a.m. with the 16-19 year class. Swimmers of 13 and under will start at noon, and the biggest class, that of 14 to 16 years, will start at 2 p.m.

Horseshoe pitching, log birling, diving, drill team display, presentation of swim prizes, and the amateur talent contest on the showboat will fill out the day.

Details of the three-day sports menu in the district on the weekend, covering cricket, softball, curling, and stock car racing, are listed on page 8.

Ferry Link Approval Due Soon

Approval of an application for a year-round ferry service linking Victoria, Port Angeles and Seattle is expected next week. Robert Acheson, of Seattle, said today the approval has not been signed by the U.S. Maritime Commission "but I'm quite sure it will be next week."

He is president of Black Ball Transportation Co. which made the application. "So far as I know, they haven't approved our application—yet," he said. "I'm not going to make any further comment until we get the signed approval in our hands."

A statement that the commission has approved the proposed service was attributed Thursday to Washington Congressman Jack Westland.

CLEAR WAY

Earlier this year, a spokesman for the group backing the ferry link said commission approval would clear the way for its operation.

Mr. Acheson said a contingent agreement for construction start of a $2,500,000 ferry for the route has been made.

"There is no commitment yet but I expect one soon," he added.

If approved, the service is not expected to begin operations for a year.

Bakery Workers Meet

First meeting of the fall season will be held Sept. 5 at 7.30 p.m. by the Bakery and Confectionary Workers of America, Local 267, in the Labor Hall, 613 Pandora.

Bridegroom Unconscious

A 35-year-old man, still unconscious from head injuries received in a solo traffic accident in Sooke Thursday night, is spending his wedding day in St. Joseph's Hospital.

John Hamer, 3356 Anchorage, was supposed to have been married in Vancouver at 10.30 a.m. today to Jean Poulsen, 3344 Ocean Boulevard, Esquimalt Lagoon.

He was en route to his fiancée's home at about 6.45 p.m. when his car apparently went out of control on the Sooke Road, near Humpback Road.

SOMERSAULTED

It somersaulted several times and wound up, a total wreck, in a blackberry thicket at the side of the road.

Colwood RCMP attended the accident and the unconscious man was taken to hospital by Langford ambulance.

He was reported unconscious but "improving" today.

Mr. Hamer had planned to leave with his fiancée on the Thursday midnight boat to Vancouver.

Libel Action Threatened By Inspector

Legal action for libel was threatened today against the president of Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association by city sanitary inspector Elwood Groppe.

Writer of a letter to city council, H. Watson, was told to apologize for a statement concerning competency of city inspectors.

The letter was received by council last week. It's sequel was a flare-up by the sanitary inspector when Mr. Watson headed a delegation which appeared before Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson's health and welfare meeting this morning.

BITTER REBUKE

Mr. Watson had written a bitter rebuke of the committee because of delays in settling the controversy over Victoria's sink by-law. It requires a sink be installed in every housekeeping room.

Although it has been in effect since 1949, it has never been enforced. A majority of roominghouse owners have complied with the regulations. The ratepayers' organization is championing the minority which has never complied.

The ratepayers have asked the committee to exempt all housekeeping units which have not so far complied but enforce the law against new conversions and new rooming-houses.

NO CONFIDENCE

Mr. Watson wrote his group had no confidence in Ald. Wilson's committee, it is wasting the taxpayers' money.

He included then the statement regarding inspectors on city business.

Mr. Groppe told Mr. Watson, "If you're going to insist on making statements like that, we are going to see a lawyer. I think you should apologize."

TISSUE OF LIES

Mr. Groppe brought copies of correspondence which refuted other charges. He told Mr. Watson his letter "is nothing but a tissue of lies. You have hearsay evidence and you put it in writing. This is a very serious thing."

Mr. Watson said he was sorry if he had hurt anyone's feelings.

The health committee was unable to reach a decision on enforcement of the by-law and turned the matter over to a sub-committee for a further meeting with the ratepayers.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—What causes most earthquakes?—P. L.

A.—Earthquakes are movements of the earth's crust and conditions which cause it are to be found where the crust is the most uneven, such as where high mountains exist near very low areas. The Pacific coast is one such region.

Q.—Why is the dandelion such a pest in our lawns and gardens?—O. D.

A.—The dandelion is a real champion of getting along in the world. Each plant grows year after year from a deep root. If leaves or flowers are cut, more grow in a few days. The hollow flower stems can grow several feet high to reach sunlight, but hug the ground if cut.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Picnic Foods Head List For Weekend Marketing

By PENNY SAVER

Labor Day weekend is a traditional time for family picnics and food to be eaten outdoors tops this week's marketing list. Cold fried chicken is always popular, and you can buy it all cut up and ready to pop into the pan at 59 cents a pound. If you plan to go to a picnic site where there are barbecue facilities, hamburgers or hot dogs will make good eating. Ground beef is 39 cents a pound, and wieners 37 cents.

Tomatoes to be eaten whole are easy-to-prepare picnic fare, and you'll find them at 25 cents for two pounds, in a good eating size.

You'll want to take along plenty of fruit for dessert. You can buy five peaches or pears for 25 cents, and local egg plums are just 29 cents for three pounds.

Local Wealthy apples are 25 cents for two pounds and Gravensteins are three pounds for 25 cents.

Grapes are a good buy at the moment. I noticed red grapes, nice for picnic eating, selling at two pounds for 39 cents. Cantaloupes might be a little messy to eat outdoors, but you'll find them at just 39 cents for two.

Dill pickles are packaged in a new way that would be very convenient for carrying along on a picnic. They are packed two to a polythene sealed bag, for 19 cents.

There are plenty of pickling supplies in now. Brown pickling onions, looking exactly like miniature daffodil bulbs, are 19 cents a pound, and gherkins are two pounds for 25 cents.

Peaches for canning are at their lowest price yet this season—$1.99 a case. Summer vegetables are at their best. Corn is just 49 cents for a dozen cobs this weekend. There are several types of squash on the market, including zucchini at 29 cents for three pounds.

Wedding of Interest Takes Place in East

Of Personal Interest

Mrs. Norah Nicholls, executive director of the local YWCA, is going to Vancouver this weekend and will be present at the wedding in Christ Church Cathedral there on Saturday afternoon, of Miss Kathleen Lyall and Mr. Robert Angus Strang, Vancouver. The bride-elect is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Lyall of "The Hazels," Bricket Wood, near St. Albans, Herts, Eng. Her ancestry on her father's side, like that of the groom-elect, is Scottish. She has been in Canada for two years. Mr. Strang, formerly of the Canadian Merchant Marine, was born in Scotland, near Glasgow, and has been in Canada for 17 years. Mrs. Nicholls will represent the bride-elect's parents at the wedding.

On Etiquette

Gift for landlady:

I was ill for some time and my landlady was kind enough to let my rent go in arrears as I was unable to work. Now I am back on the job and all paid up. I would like to do something to show my appreciation. She has almost everything for her home, so I have decided on flowers. Could you suggest something especially nice that I could write on the card to show that I appreciate what she has done for me. Have you any other suggestions for a gift?

Louise Davis answers: What a thoughtful, considerate and humane landlady you have. And what a thoughtful and appreciative tenant she has! Deeds like these are faith-restoring and help make life worthwhile. Here is a suggestion for a message on your card: "To a very thoughtful and understanding landlady—and friend. With much appreciation, (your signature)." Flowers, of course, are always nice. Perhaps you might like to give her a subscription to a magazine.

Bells Ring in Nova Scotia House

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Mrs. Charles Norton of nearby Sunny Brae has a hobby that opens the door to new friends and experiences.

She is a bell collector and her house contains about 200 bells of every description and from many lands.

The oldest bell in the collection is one brought to Nova Scotia by a Scottish settler who arrived on the Hector in 1773.

The bottom of the bell is worn thin and the clapper is flat through use.

Animal bells have a great attraction for Mrs. Norton. She has bells once worn by elephants, camels, sheep and cows.

The bells used by camels have the strangest story. Oriental peoples claim that without the bells, camels lose their appetites and even their animation. Camel drivers hang bells around their tents at night.

Oddest item in the collection is a wooden bell, manufactured in Cape Breton, that produces no sound.

Grade 9, there is a tendency to put childhood away and emulate adults—make "adult decisions."

After three years of junior high, often with full growth upon them, the step to the world outside of school seems easy. Curiously, the youngster with least chance of assistance from his parents is first to go.

School figures show those high schools in most prosperous districts possess greater "holding power" than those districts where the less wealthy live.

They show that in general, out of every 100 students, 14 drop out before Grade 10, 30 drop out before Grade 11 and 44 drop out before Grade 12.

And Grade 12 education is what employers want—at least grade 12.

Mr. McPhillips and Mr. Woodsworth suspect the junior high system makes children grow up too fast.

Under the old system a pupil had eight years of forced learning. Instruction and exercises were carried out in class. Extra-mural activities were at a minimum.

At Grade 9, high school opened new doors. There were new freedoms and responsibility for success passed more to the student, less to the teacher. It was up to the student to carry his learning beyond the classroom, to the library and the home-work session.

ADULT TREATMENT

Grade 9 was the start of extra-mural activities and the glamor of school dances, sports. For the first time teachers began to treat pupils in a more adult fashion. It was an attractive change from the lower grades.

Now this takes place at Grade 7. By the time junior high is completed, the thrill of reaching the level of secondary education is faded. The anxiety to "get out in the world" has taken over with many youngsters.

School boards have countered with a rich program of night school activities and credits may be obtained by the pupil with gumption enough to go back. There is general agreement juvenile employment can be reduced if they will take on more education. But once out of the fold, it's hard to shepherd them back.

Mr. McPhillips has a further suggestion.

He favors expansion of the national employment Bureau system of registering job openings for youngsters.

He says, when he goes to Ottawa he will enquire into setting up of on-the-job training systems by federal departments.

Apprentices could be taken on by the hydrographic survey service, signed on vessels tending lighthouses. They could be recruited by the department of mines and technical surveys, dominion experimental farms and forestry departments.

They wouldn't replace trained men, but would be accessory workers who might not produce the worth of their pay-cheques at first. But unemployed they are costly, too, and the system could be regarded in the same light as other subsidized education programs.

Mr. Woodsworth doesn't fully agree with a system of forestry or agricultural camps. This could become a temporary haven rather than a school, he feels.

MORE APPRENTICES

His solution would be for industry to expand the apprenticeship system in trades such as plastering, painting, masonry, blacksmithing and tinsmithing, moulding and pattern-making.

Many trades which lack the strict apprenticeship system of machinists and printers, haven't changed much in procedures over the years. These wouldn't require such a great amount of pre-education as machine and electrical vocations, he thinks.

And he thinks the services should take another look at their policy of restricting applicants who have a juvenile record in the courts. Army, navy or air force discipline is sorely needed by many of these boys and would develop them as better citizens.

FUNERAL NOTICE

An Emergent Communication of Britannia Lodge No. 23, A.F. & A.M. B.C.M. will be held at the Masonic Temple, Flagstaff Street, Victoria, B.C., on Saturday, Aug. 31, 1957, at 3:15 p.m. for the purpose of attending the funeral of our late Brother Robert Fletcher. ## Same-for-All Rate Set For Business Tax Plan

Preliminary passage was given a city council by-law on Thursday which will establish business tax on the same basis for all classes of commerce.

Every store will have the same tax rate applied to an assessed rental value—probably 7 per cent.

Decision was reached after a two-hour wrangle over proposals of Ald. J. D. Smith that a different percentage tax should be applied to businesses, depending on their size.

He felt instead of a 7 per cent tax, firms such as banks and breweries should pay 10 per cent and small grocers, barbers, etc., 2 and 3 per cent.

PRESSURE FEARED

This classification system is approved in the B.C. Municipal Act, but, according to experts, no firm basis for the classification can be found and council would be pressured constantly by business groups which felt their classification was too high.

Ald. Hugh Ramsay warned the by-law must be passed promptly for Dec. 15 tax collection. Council has budgeted for a business tax-trade licence revenue this year of $460,000.

Trade licences are already paid and will be credited against charges for business tax, but these amount to only about $300,000.

The business tax must be collected or the city will be short of necessary funds before the end of the year.

TWO-MILL LEVY

"If we don't get a move on we'll have to go back to the property owners with a two-mill levy," Ald. Ramsay warned.

Comptroller D. A. Young pointed out the alternatives would be for the city to default on debenture payments or the employee payroll.

City manager C. C. Wyatt is preparing a list showing how the new tax will affect a cross-section of local business.

There was some indication, if the list shows the same tax for all system causes inequalities, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow might swing in with Ald. Smith in a renewed fight for classification.

The council has still to decide whether the trade licence system will continue with merchants required to pay either business tax or trade licence, whichever is the greater.

This system, employed in some mainland cities, is authorized under the Municipal Act. A special tax on beer, wine and liquor outlets is also still under study.

TRANS-CANADA ROAD DISGRACE—GAGLARDI

VANCOUVER (CP)—Highways Minister Gagliardi of British Columbia Thursday night described the Trans-Canada Highway "a disgrace to the whole nation."

He told a provincial by-election meeting in Burnaby he was disappointed that Works Minister Howard Green had found no reason to change the former Liberal government's policy on the highway. He said Mr. Green should take another look at the project.

Mr. Gagliardi said he was speaking for the whole country in asking for a new plan for the highway. He said B.C. will complete its own portion by 1960, according to schedule.

Mrs. Guy Temple Dies in Vancouver

Mrs. Guy T. Temple, last surviving member of a Victoria West family which moved here from the Maritimes before the turn of the century, died in University Hospital, Vancouver, Thursday night after a lengthy illness.

She was the former Mary Monteith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Monteith, whose family residence was on Maitland Street.

Mrs. Temple was pre-deceased by two brothers and three sisters—Alex (Sandy), Harry,

Sarah (Mrs. Robert Jenkins), Cassie, and Agnes (Mrs. A. E. Roberts).

All were born in Nova Scotia, where the senior Monteith emigrated from Ireland.

Mrs. Temple was the widow of a well-known Victoria tugboat company executive and member of Royal Victoria Yacht Club. They moved from Victoria to Vancouver in the early 1930s.

'LESS RED TAPE'

Grain Cash Delay Hits Farmers

WINNIPEG (BUP)—General disappointment was felt on the Prairies today because cash advances on farm-stored grain would not be available at the present time in order to finance harvesting operations.

James Paterson, president of the Manitoba Farmers' Union and chairman of the Interprovincial Farm Union Council, a group which recently presented a brief to Prime Minister John Diefenbaker urging cash advances, said "we are pleased to see that the government has committed itself firmly to bring about legislation to implement cash advances."

But he added the measure . . . "could be authorized without waiting for parliament, and under a practical system could be administered with a minimum of administration and red tape."

OTTAWA (CP)—Huge amounts of federal cash may roll out to hard-pressed Prairie farmers this fall if parliament agrees to a Progressive Conservative government proposal to provide producers with cash advances for farm-stored wheat.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced Thursday he will press ahead with his election promise to grant farmers advance payments on the grain they find it difficult to sell.

Mr. Diefenbaker gave no details of his cash advances proposal nor did he state specifically to what grains it will apply. But Mr. Churchill said later the government is thinking primarily of wheat.

FISHING ROUNDUP

Big Ones Move At Port Alberni

Fishing continues at its usual summer pace around Vancouver Island. In other words, it's good all over.

Best news comes from Port Alberni, where reports have it that the big tyee and coho are starting to run. Top lure for the big fellows is the Lucky Louie plug, but the silver Alaska is taking its share.

Campbell River, too, is producing tyee in good numbers, and they're hitting bucktail flies and herring strip. Tyee between 30 and 40 pounds are most plentiful at the river mouth, while limits of spring and coho are being taken off Shelter and Willow Points.

PLENTY AT COURTENAY

Courtenay reports coho in abundance, but the tyee are there also. Fishermen missed the first run of the big ones, however, when a storm swept the rivers and allowed the fish to go right up.

From Oyster Bay comes a report of fine bucktail fishing, while the humpbacks are due to hit the mouth of the river for surf-casting action any day.

At Qualicum the fishing is good, but deep. Small plugs are producing a few springs, while anglers using herring strip are bringing in their limits of coho. The silvers are not taking bucktails in any great quantity, however.

Limits are being taken in spring and coho with strip casting at French Creek. Again, herring strip is the best bet.

In lower Island waters, coho, grise, jackspring and spring are coming in regularly at Saanich Inlet, where both the Brentwood and Goldstream ends report excellent angling. Most fish are being taken close to the surface on four to eight ounces of weight, with Tom Mack spoon, Mac Squid plug, minnow and strip being the best lures.

As usual, early morning and evening fishing is most productive.

Around Oak Bay and Esquimalt prospects are good for the annual Esquimalt Anglers' Association coho derby.

STARTS SATURDAY

Derby gets under way Saturday morning at daylight and will close at 9 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Final gun goes off Monday at 7 p.m. and all fish must be weighed in at Anglers' Rest, Kinver Beach, by that time.

Boundaries for fishing will be a line from the grain elevator to Brothie Light and from there to Albert Head. Those fishing outside the limits will be disqualified.

At Cowichan, too, it looks good for the annual Cowichan Bay Salmon Club ladder derby fishoff Sunday. Both spring and coho are running well.

The 50 Cowichan qualifiers must be at the Government Wharf at 5 a.m. A cloth marker will be given to each contestant at the wharf, to be carried in the bow of the boat at all times while contestant is fishing.

BIG HORNS MISS

Bill's Display Leads Butlers

Queens Park Arena in New Westminster may not be quite the same for some time to come following a display of lacrosse power put on by Victoria's Butler Brothers and Bill Munroe Thursday as they hammered out an 18-6 win over New Westminster to take the B.C. bantam lacrosse championship in a sudden-death final.

It was a little different story with Juvenile A Big Horns. They failed in their bid to make it five provincial titles brought home to Victoria so far this year. Big Horns ran into an East Burnaby team that took over early in the game to drum out a 15-5 win.

The senior game was anti-climactic following on the heels of Butlers' win.

NINE FOR MUNROE

Munroe, who has averaged 12 points a game in the Victoria league this season, capped his year with a nine-goal performance that was enough to beat the Royal City team single-handedly.

Running-mate John Hansen scored four more in a fine display and Bruce Mitchell notched a pair.

With a 10-1 lead at the half, Butlers loosened up in the final frame when New Westminster scored four of its goals.

Big Horns hurt themselves more than Burnaby did as they played loose-checking lacrosse that allowed Keith Jackson to get the mainlanders away to a fast start. He scored four of his five goals in the opening canto.

Tom Collett led the Victorian scorers with three goals.

East Burnaby—Keith Jackson 5, Kelvin Kyle 3, Bob Batesman 3, Dave Horrie 3, Dave Harrison Total—15.

Big Horns—Tom Collett 3, Norm Hiron, Bob Harris Total—8.

Butler Brothers—Bill Munroe 9, John Hansen 4, Bruce Mitchell 2, Bill Duckworth, Gary Zekie, Glen Vickers Total—18.

COURTENAY, B.C. (CP)

Courtenay CRA edged Port Alberni Swim Club 367½ points to 328½ to win a two-meet, total-point competition and the inter-club trophy here Wednesday night.

Passenger Bails Out Giant Stranded Plane

OAKLAND, Calif. (UP)—Embarassed Transocean Airlines executives admitted Thursday that they had to borrow the gasoline credit card of an obliging passenger last week so that a chartered Super-Constellation could take off from Ontario.

The company said the big four-engine airplane was temporarily stranded at the southern California airport when a gasoline salesman refused to accept the pilot's Esso credit card for $1,135.58 worth of gasoline.

Russ Still Serious —Stassen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold Stassen arrived from London today and said he would report to President Eisenhower that he believes Russia still is "seriously negotiating" for an east-west disarmament agreement.

Stassen, presidential adviser on disarmament, told reporters that "no one should feel that any agreement is just around the corner."

LOSS BOTH WAYS

But he added that "both sides know that modern war would be a bad net loss all around, so they have that common interest between them."

Asked whether he thought the Soviet Union was negotiating in "good faith," Stassen said that was not the word he would use because "they are negotiating from the point of view of their interests."

Stassen left London Thursday after presenting a complete Western plan for a first-step disarmament agreement. American hopes for solid progress in the London talks had been built on some kind of positive Soviet reaction to this Western initiative.

But Valerian Zorin, the Soviet negotiator, promptly denounced the Stassen offering as containing nothing of value.

Ike to Sign Controversial Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UP)—Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, Jr., made it clear today after a conference with President Eisenhower that the chief executive will sign the Civil Rights Bill.

The historic measure, now in a form designed chiefly to protect the voting rights of southern Negroes, was finally approved 60-15 by Congress Thursday night—the first such legislation in 82 years.

Though it fell far short of what Eisenhower had requested, Brownell said on leaving the White House: "We believe it will go a long way to carry out the promise made to citizens in the Constitution that every man is entitled to exercise his right to vote, regardless of race, creed or color."

Southern Democrats opposed the bill to the last but only one—Sen. Strom Thurmond—filibustered it. Thurmond talked, with few interruptions, for 24 hours and 18 minutes.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.), leader of the southern anti-civil rights bloc, predicted in a Senate speech today that Brownell, at the bidding of Vice-President Richard M. Nixon and the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, will use the legislation to give the south "difficult times."

The anti-aircraft firing will take place in areas N-A and N-B daily between 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Sept. 3 to Sept. 31.

IKE GIVEN AID BILL LOPPED OF $1 BILLION

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives today passed and sent to President Eisenhower a $3,435,810,000 foreign aid money bill. This is $1,000,000,000 below Eisenhower's original request. The Senate passed the measure Thursday night.

HE GIVES AWAY 'GRAND PRIZES'

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngsters who ask the first question answered each day receive a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond's Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Dottie Nachman, age 13, of Columbus, Ohio, for her question:

How does soap remove dirt?

Many of Andy's young friends feel it's a chore to soap up with lather, rinse off and wipe dry. Then comes along the magic of curiosity. You wonder how the frothy stuff won't do the job, yet soap seems to be only water and bubbles. Curiosity makes the chore into a guessing game and before you know it everyone is admiring your bright face, clean hands and goodness, even clean pink ears.

Soap is a mixture of soda and alkali. Like every other substance, it is made of tiny molecules—too small for our eyes to see. The molecules of soap carry a special magic which goes to work when the soap is mixed with water. The job of stealing the dirt is done by these strange little molecules.

Each kind of molecule in the world is different from every other kind. Each kind has its own character. It will mix with this stuff but not with that stuff. Oil and water will not mix because the particles of which they are made refuse to associate with each other. The molecule of soap, however, has a very special nature. It can mix with both oil and water.

A soap molecule is long in shape. And each end has different qualities. One end attracts water and the other attracts oil. When you lather up the bubbles, these tiny mites are set free to pull with each arm. One arm attaches itself to water. The other arm attaches itself to some oily bit of dirt.

But you say, all the dirt is not greasy or oily. Actually it is. Your skin is coated with a fine film of oil, the natural brilliantine which keeps it smooth and silky. Dirt sticks to the world.

New Stamp to Honor Royal Visit to Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—A new, black-and-white five-cent stamp, showing Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip in profile, is being issued by the post office department to commemorate the October visit of the royal couple.

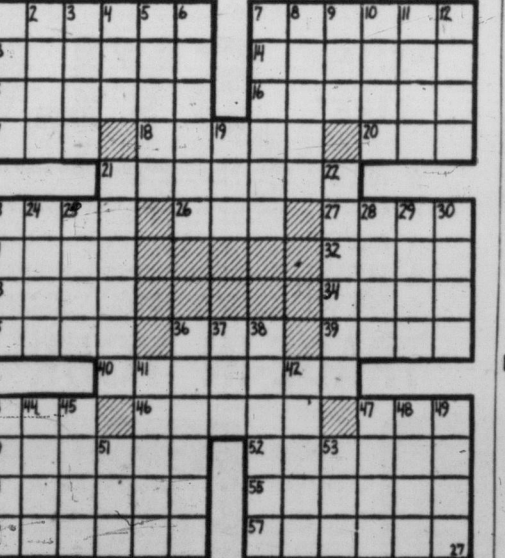

The department announced today that the stamp will go on sale Oct. 10, two days before the Queen and the Prince arrive in Ottawa for a four-day visit.

The black-and-white halftone stamp is the combined product of the post office, Ottawa photographer Yousuf Karsh and Bank Note Company designers and engravers went to work to copy the facial likenesses in profile and engrave them for print.

The stamp, slightly larger than the present Canadian one, is delicately done, with a fine, shaded background. In the profiles, with Her Majesty in front and Prince Philip behind at the right side of her face, the Queen's mouth shows the wisp of a smile. Both are bare headed.

For collectors who want panels of the new stamp, these will be issued in standard panels of 100 stamps each, despite the enlarged size of the new issue. Philatelists may get their local postmasters to cancel first-day covers, or may send their covers to Ottawa where for an extra charge they will be cancelled with the words "first day of issue" in English and French.
